Howard Jarvis, father of California Proposition 13, which cut that state's property taxes by almost 7-billion-dollars, was in Romulus last week stumping for a National Tax Limitation Plan. Jarvis, 76, was joined by Robert Tisch at the Thursday press conference at the Romulus Ramada Inn. Tisch was the man who led the Michigan drive to place a tax cutting measure similar to Jarvis' Proposition 13 on the November ballot. According to Jarvis, his national plan to cut taxes would be based on working for the victory of candidates willing to support his plan and the defeat of those candidates who would not. His group's goal is to raise upwards of 15 million dollars to put into the campaigns of friendly political candidates. At the meeting Tisch expressed confidence that his proposed amendment to the state's constitution would be certified and presented to voters in November. — Photo courtesy city of Romulus.

Grants to pay bulk

Bid letting okayed for seniors drop-in

A new senior citizens drop-in center for the city of Romulus came one step closer last week (Tuesday) as the city council authorized the letting of bids for the project. The drop-in center, which will be an addition to the southwest corner of the present recreation department building at Bibbins and Shook streets, will cost an estimated $150,000 according to the architectural firm which designed the structure.

Of the total cost, federal grants will pay for 75 percent, while the city will pick up the remaining 25 percent.

The single-story building will contain 3,000 square feet of space and will include meeting rooms, kitchen, storage areas and restrooms.

Pat Hogan, newly-named director of community development and planning, said bids will be opened the first week in October. If the weather permits, he added, work will start on the drop-in center shortly thereafter, with completion hoped for before the end of the year.

Location of the drop-in center was selected because of its close proximity to city and business establishments.

Federal funds for the center project have been approved and will arrive in installments as work progresses, Hogan said.

Plan party for funds to buy film system

A "Millionaire's Party" spearheaded by Romulus Clerk Leonard J. Folmar and involving as many local service clubs as possible is hoped to be the means to raise enough money to buy the city a micro-film system.

The clerk said he is contacting the service clubs to set a specific date and to coordinate activities for the one-night event.

"We hope to raise $10,000 to purchase a micro-film system that will enable the city of Romulus to cut down on valuable storage space by filming various city records and documents," he explained.

Included in the micro-filming will be paperwork from the district court, library, council, planning commission and zoning board of appeals, he said.

The micro-film process has been in use for many years by private and governmental units. Film is conveniently stored and filed in a fraction of the space used to store bulky paper records.

When reference is needed to a certain record or document, it is looked up rapidly and viewed on a screen at full size, the clerk added.

"By using such a micro-film system, the city of Romulus will have taken another step toward streamlining its operations," Folmar noted.

Teamsters deny charges

Police allege union clam-up in picket death

Interference by Teamsters Local 299 is being charged by a police investigator after one of their pickets at a Romulus plant was struck and killed Wednesday by an enraged produce truck driver whose vehicle had been pelted.

Det. Frank Burton of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department said picketing union members at Distron Division of Burger King, Inc. in Romulus and the dead man's common-law wife had been told to keep quiet about the circumstances of their colleague's death.

"I think the word came from Jimmy Hoffa Jr.," Burton said. Hoffa, who is the attorney for the local, is the son of Jimmy Hoffa, prominent national Teamsters figure whose mysterious disappearance two years ago is still being investigated.

Friday afternoon, the Roman contacted Robert Lins, Local 299 president, who disclaimed any and all knowledge of anyone with the union giving such orders.

"I just returned from the funeral somewhere I talked to Mrs. Farhat. To my knowledge no one from the union had told her or the pickets to keep quiet," Lins said.

A few minutes later, Jimmy Hoffa Jr. called the Roman from the law firm of Hoffa, Chodak and Robiner in Detroit. He, too, said he knew nothing about anyone telling pickets at Distron to clam up to investigating police officers.

"It's not true. We will cooperate in every way. We expect everyone to cooperate with the police on this case," Hoffa said.

Robert J. Tringale, 31, of Grosse Pointe Shores, was charged with second-degree murder Thursday in his appearance before Judge James Stone in Romulus 34th District Court. He was released on $10,000 bond and will appear for a preliminary examination before Judge Stone Wednesday (today).

Dead is John Farhat, 35, of Taylor, who was standing next to a car talking to the wife of a fellow worker who had just driven up to stand picket duty. He was hit by the 40-foot tractor trailer driven by Tringale and mangled beneath the wheels, Burton said.

The detective said Tringale had delivered a load of produce about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday to Distron, which is located at 36175 Herman.

Some 30 minutes later, Burton said, Tringale got into his truck and drove off. As his truck passed a group of pickets, who have been on strike since a week ago Friday, an object evidently thrown by one of them struck and smashed the side window on the driver's side of the vehicle.

He said Tringale suffered a cut to his left arm and that broken glass was pushed into the cab of the truck.

Tringale, who works for the Michigan Repacking Produce Co. owned by his father, stopped the truck to clear glass out of the cab. At this time, Burton said, he made an obscene gesture in the direction of the pickets and yelled curses at them. He then drove off down Herman toward Wayne Road.

Company officials looking out of a window at the plant had observed Tringale stopping his truck and became alarmed. They jumped into a car and flagged him down. Burton said company officials tried to calm Tringale down, but told officers he was "outraged" at what had happened. They then drove back to the plant.

The detective said his investigation disclosed that about 10 minutes later, Tringale returned down Herman at a high rate of speed. As he rounded a curve near the plant, the picket who had just driven up saw the speeding truck and yelled at Farhat.

Burton said Farhat looked up from the conversation with the picket's wife who was sitting in a car and was hit almost simultaneously by the truck, being unable to get out of the way in time. The detective said he was killed instantly.

Several pickets jumped into a car and attempted to catch the truck but lost it in traffic, he added.

About four hours later on Wednesday, Tringale came to the out-county division of the sheriff's office in Westland accompanied by Neil Fink, prominent Detroit criminal lawyer, Burton said.

"He (Tringale) was upset and remorseful at what had happened. He cooperated with us 100 percent," he said.

In addition to telling picketing union members at Distron to keep quiet, Burton said someone in authority at the union local had instructed the dead man's common-law wife to do the same.

Council turns down standard sign size

Much like a resident of the 20th Century who refuses to drive a car and prefers the old horse and buggy, the Romulus City Council last week turned down an amendment to its sign ordinance that would have made it compatible with national standards.

Three weeks ago, council on the recommendation of the Eller Outdoor Signs Co. had introduced the amendment to increase the size of large billboard signs in the city from 600 to 700 square feet in area.

At that time, Eller had explained that the national standard-sized sign is 672 square feet in area and that each time it did work in Romulus for a customer it was forced to secure a special variance.

Although the groundwork looked promising three weeks ago, it was a different story last week (Tuesday) as the measure went down to defeat 4-2, with Councilman Junior Block absent.

Voting against the amendment were council members Ray Cantrell and James Raspberry, while yes votes were recorded by council members Beverly McNally, Mary Ann Banks, Mary Carter and Jerry Canejo.

Five votes are needed for the amendment to legally pass.

Evidently, council's action was "a sign of the times".

City man is charged in traffic accident

Romulus resident Lief O. Hanson will stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court on two manslaughter charges, the result of a traffic accident in Westland July 22.

Hanson was bound over for trial Aug. 21 at his preliminary examination on the charge, held before 18th District Court Judge Evan Callanan.

The pre-trial hearing in Circuit Court is scheduled for Sept. 22, according to Westland Police Officer Peter Brokas.

Hanson is accused of two counts of manslaughter after a Wayne woman and her mother died when his truck allegedly struck their car in the intersection at Palmer and Venoy in Westland.

The car containing the two women had rolled into the intersection, and stopped in the middle. Hanson, driving toward the intersection with a green light, proceeded to hit the women's car broadside, police reports indicated.

The preliminary exam on the two felony charges was held to determine if a crime was committed, and if there was reason to believe that the suspect committed it.

Callanan determined that both criteria were established enough to send Hanson to trial.

The man is free on bond.

Will replace Bonczek

Patrick Hogan appointed as Romulus plan director

Patrick A. Hogan of Lincoln Park has been appointed director of community development and planning for the city of Romulus by Mayor William A. Oakley.

The 29-year-old Hogan will assume most of the duties of Stephen Bonczek, who resigned recently to accept a position as administrative assistant to the mayor of Wixom.

In his new position, Hogan will be responsible for application of county, state and federal grants for various city projects and programs. Salary called for in the budget for his job classification is $21,200 annually.

Married and the father of a one-year-old son, Hogan served for two years as director of community improvement in Lincoln Park. He and his wife, Carol, plan to move to Romulus in the near future.

Prior to his job with Lincoln Park,

Hogan was a self-employed real estate salesman from 1972-76. He graduated from Michigan State University in 1972 with a bachelor's degree in business administration.

"I am impressed with the city of Romulus' programs and I hope to continue them to the best of my ability," Hogan said.

Hogan's office is located in the northeast corner of the basement floor of the city hall.

2 Kalamazoo students study abroad

Two members of the junior class at Kalamazoo College in Kalamazoo are participants in its Foreign Study Program for the 1978-79 academic year.

Dennis Kurtzhals of Romulus and Donna Schimmel of Belleville will spend the next six to nine months going to school at one of 23 different study locations around the globe. Kurtzhals will be in Columbia, South America, while Miss Schimmel will be in Bonn, West Germany.

The two students will live either with a host family or as a foreign student in a college dormitory.

Foreign study is a standard part of the four-year curriculum at Kalamazoo College, and more than 85 percent of the college's students study abroad before graduation.

In other college news:

Several residents were among students to receive degrees or certificates from Ferris State College during commencement ceremonies this summer.

The Belleville graduates were Beverly A. Bonotai of Elwell Road, associate of applied science degree in nursing with distinction; Harold Innes III of Willis Road, associate of applied science in heavy equipment service; Kathryn Koski of Bemis Road, bachelor of science in pharmacy; and Diane Soja of Haggerty Road, associate of applied science as a dental assistant.

From Flat Rock the graduates were Keith J. Lewis of Gibraltar Road, bachelor of science in pharmacy; Elizabeth A. Peacock of Meadowbrook Court, bachelor of science in criminal justice; and Daniel Poole of Magnolia, associate of applied science in radio and television service.

The New Boston graduates were Timothy Hinojosa of West Road, bachelor of science in management; and Charles Pearson of Waltz Road, bachelor of science in applied biology with distinction.

From Romulus the graduates were David A. Ash of Sibley, bachelor of science in education; and Darryl A. Butler of Gabriel, bachelor of science in automotive and heavy equipment technology.

Several area residents received promotions at Eastern Michigan University earlier this month.

New staff appointments included Tammy Horne of Belleville as an accounting clerk in the Student Accounting Office.

Promotions included Shenna Bankston of Belleville to clerk-typist in the Office of Academic Records, Fay Davis of Belleville to senior secretary in the Department of Administrative Services and Business Education, Maureen Werhlin of Belleville to senior account clerk in the Cashier's Office, and Dawn Williams to full-time custodian in the Physical Plant Department.

Award winner

Gerald E. Draheim, county extension agent for Wayne County, shows off two National Association of County Agents national awards he received for excellence in feature story and television communications. The awards were presented in ceremonies at the conclusion of the annual convention. Presenting Draheim with the awards was Linda Stutz, agricultural communications manager of Rohm and Haas Co. of Philadelphia, Penna., sponsor of the NACAA Public information awards program.

Holiday travel to set record

Michiganians are on a travel binge, and tourism over the Labor Day holiday should increase three percent over last year and continue the record pace set during the first half of 1978, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

State travelers have combined with visitors from other states to make the first six months of this year the most successful tourism period in state history. Tourists spent $2.4 billion in Michigan in 1978's first half, nine percent more than last year.

If good weather holds, motorists should travel 695 million miles during the 78-hour holiday, 15 million miles more than during the 1977 Labor Day period. The record is the 870 million miles projected for the Fourth of July holiday in 1972.

"Unlike last July 4th weekend, when many popular resorts filled prior to the holiday, chambers of commerce in most sections of Michigan do not expect motels and hotels to fill before the holiday officially begins at 6 p.m. Friday," Ratke pointed out. "An exception may be along the Lake Michigan shore from Muskegon to Petoskey, where advance bookings are heavy and some facilities on or near the lake are beginning to fill."

All 54 Lower Peninsular and six of 19 Upper Peninsular state parks with campgrounds checked by Auto Club expect capacity crowds this holiday, with most filling by 9 p.m. Sept. 1.

"Despite increased travel and tourism activity across Michigan, motorists are consuming less gasoline than last year," explained Ratke, who attributed the .002 percent drop in fuel use for the first five months of this year to better gasoline mileage for 1978 automobiles.

For the fourth straight summer holiday, State Police will have "Operation CARE" (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) in effect to help cut highway fatalities.

Michigan experienced a dramatic 36 percent average drop in traffic deaths the last three summer holidays, including a 44 percent drop over the recent July 4th weekend compared to the previous year. During that same three-holiday period, traffic fatalities increased four percent nationwide.

State Police will have an additional 200 troopers on Michigan roads each day of the four-day holiday, with special emphasis placed on the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit.

Last Labor Day holiday, 18 persons were killed on state roads, the lowest since 18 persons lost their lives over the 1960 Labor Day weekend. Three-fourths of the drivers judged at fault in last year's mishaps were reported drinking.

Specials to survey high, low

Two famous Americans, one known for being a down-to-earth politician and the other for being an up-in-the-clouds musician, are subjects of two Channel 56 specials next Thursday.

"Harry S. Truman: Plain Speaking" starts off the evening at 8 p.m., immediately followed by a program about the man whose name has become synonymous with candelabras and sequins, "Liberace."

"Plain Speaking" features actor Ed Flanders portraying the crusty, down home Harry Truman. The teleplay uses Truman's own words to depict his reflections on his timid childhood, his uncomfortable welcome in Congress and the events surrounding his life as President of the United States.

Next, at 9 p.m., "Liberace" is the subject of an amazing — and amusing — documentary. This filmed look at one of the most colorful figures in American entertainment shows the personal background from which Liberace derived his musical talent as well as his flair for showmanship.

The program also takes viewers on a tour of the Liberace estate and gives a close-up view of some of his fabulous collections. The behind-the-scenes interviews give the public an insight into Liberace, the man, with his thoughts and emotions, instead of just Liberace, the performer, with his opulent costumes and glass-topped pianos.

Unfounded Fears

Some people are so afraid of finding out they have cataracts, they don't go to have their eyes checked by eye-care specialists who can help them.

This can lead to needless blindness. Over 6,300 persons in the United States lose their sight to cataracts every year, yet this condition is curable in most cases. Cataract extraction is one of the most successful operations performed today.

Throughout its 70-year history, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has worked toward eliminating needless loss of sight. For a free booklet about cataracts or other eye problems, write to your state Prevention of Blindness Society, or to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 79 Madison Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10016.

School next week for area's students

With the exception of Huron Township, students will be starting back to school next week in the cities of Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Van Buren and Sumpter.

Because Huron Public Schools will have a special millage election on Thursday, Sept. 7, school will not begin until Monday, Sept. 11, according to Supt. Byron Antcliff's office.

In the Romulus Public Schools, students begin classes Wednesday, Sept. 6, while their teachers will report one day earlier on Tuesday.

In the Van Buren Public Schools, which include the city of Belleville and the townships of Sumpter and Van Buren, students and teachers will report for classes Tuesday, Sept. 5, for a half-day session. Full classes will resume on Wednesday, Sept. 6.

Child-raising class on adult ed program in Romulus schools

Today's parents are expressing new interest in finding effective ways to develop positive parent-child relationships.

Concerned by effects of social change on family unity, parents are questioning the value of yesterday's child-raising techniques with today's children. Parents are receiving advice from all directions...the neighbors, child-training experts, newspapers and television. In response to these circumstances, Romulus Adult Education has developed a class to encourage more effective parenting techniques.

According to director Bill Smith, the class will begin Sept. 11 and will be based on the nationally recognized S.T.E.P. project (Systematic Training for Effective Parenting). By working together in small groups, S.T.E.P. participants share common concerns; learn child development techniques; improve listening skills and work toward the goal of raising responsible children in an atmosphere of love, understanding and mutual respect.

Pre-recorded presentations include true-to-life dramatizations in which parents will see themselves and their children. Each participant also receives a handbook which contains readings, charts and exercises to improve parental decision-making, communication, encouragement and responsibility.

Two separate S.T.E.P. classes will be held. One will meet on Tuesday mornings from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and another on Thursday nights, 6:30-10 p.m. The 17-week classes will begin the week of Sept. 11 and will be free to adults who have yet to finish high school. Other interested residents may sign up for the course on a space-available basis. A $10 fee will be charged to cover cost of materials.

For more information about Project S.T.E.P. and other adult education classes, call Romulus Adult Education at 941-0610.

Junior golf tourney will begin Friday

Carleton Glen Golf Club is having its second annual Junior Golf Tournament on Friday, Sept. 1, 1978 at 9 a.m.

Open to junior and senior high school students, the classic will have five divisions: seventh and eighth combined grades, ninth grade, 10th grade, 11th grade, and 12th grade. Trophies will be awarded for first, second, and third place in all five divisions.

Last year, over 100 golfers from 22 schools participated. The $6 entry fee covers green fees, trophies, and lunch and may be paid at tee time, or in advance, to Carleton Glen Golf Club, 13470 Grafton Rd., Carleton, Mich. Early entries may call (313) 654-6201 Thursday, Aug. 31, for an assigned tee time.

The 11th and 12th grade divisions will begin teeing off at 9 a.m. and the others will start at 11 a.m.

Located about six miles southwest of Flat Rock, the golf club is only 1½ miles south of exit No. 8 off the new I-275 Expressway.

In Brief

Deputy clerk certified

Mrs. Linda Choate, Romulus deputy clerk for the last year, has completed a two-year program of certification as a municipal clerk.

She recently attended a seven-day seminar at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y., according to Clerk Leonard J. Folmar. She has now served a total of five years in the clerk's office.

Folmar commented, "It is my belief that city employees should get as much training as possible in order to provide more and better services to the residents of Romulus. Mrs. Choate is to be commended for her efforts."

Hunter class offered

Michigan law requires anyone 12-16 years of age to pass a hunter's safety class in order to purchase a hunting license. Students who pass the course will be issued a Firearms Safety Certificate by the state Department of Natural Resources.

Romulus Community Education will sponsor Hunter's Safety Sept. 18, 20, 25 and 27.

Students must attend all sessions from 6:30-9 p.m. at Romulus Senior High, 9650 S. Wayne Rd. A $3 fee to cover supplies will be collected on the first night.

Romulus students should register at their respective school offices and other students may register by calling Romulus Community Education, at 941-0610.

Death of Nellie A. Pullen rekindles Romulus history

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

When Mrs. Nellie A. Pullen was buried last Aug. 14 in Romulus Cemetery, she had returned to the area first settled by her two husbands' ancestors and where she and her family had made their home for more than 50 years.

Mrs. Pullen, who would have been 100 years old next Nov. 27, died in Phoenix, Ariz. on Aug. 9 where she had moved in 1962.

She had married into both the Hale and Pullen families, whose forbears were among the first settlers of the region that became Romulus Township and later the city of Romulus.

'She was a friend to everyone and she was liked by everyone who knew her.'

Born Nellie Tallmadge in 1878 in Tuscola County near Caro, Mich., she was first married around the turn of the century to James H. Hale in Romulus. His family owned land at the corner of Eureka and Merriman roads, on which the old Hale School was built.

The school later was moved and today is called Hale Creek Elementary School at 16200 Harrison Rd. in Romulus.

Nellie and James had three children, one of whom, Mrs. Russell O'Brien, survives in Phoenix. The other two children, Ralph and Henry, preceded their mother in death.

After the death of Mr. Hale in 1925, Nellie was married to Elmer Pullen in 1928 in Romulus. Their union bore no children, but her husband had six children from his first wife, who had died in 1924.

Thus, the new Mrs. Pullen became mother to her own three children and the six belonging to her husband.

Of the six Pullen children, all are now deceased except George Pullen, of Royal Oak and Mrs. Alice McRae of Marshall, Mich.

Mrs. McRae, now a widow, recalls her step-mother, Mrs. Pullen, quite vividly.

"She was a friend to everyone and she was liked by everyone who knew her," she said.

"She treated her step-children just like they were her own. An outsider couldn't tell the difference," Mrs. McRae asserted.

When Nellie, as Mrs. Hale, married Mr. Pullen, two pioneer families which had helped settle the early Romulus area were united.

Mrs. McRae explained, "The Hale and Pullen families lived only two miles apart. We were neighbors. When Nellie married my father, it was someone she had known."

Mrs. McRae said that when Nellie moved to Romulus with her first husband, Mr. Hale, they lived on a farm that was first homesteaded by his grandfather, William Hale, back in 1835.

According to the step-daughter, everyone knew the Pullen family from the roadside vegetable stand in front of their house for many years.

She said her father, Elmer, was a descendant of Jenks Pullen, one of the early founders of the Romulus area.

"What is now Five Points was known in those days as Pullen's Corner. They even had their own post office," she remarked.

When Nellie Pullen was laid to rest in Romulus Cemetery, she joined her second husband who died in 1950 in Romulus and was buried there.

The death of Nellie Hale Pullen not only marked the end of a beloved and good woman, but it helped to rekindle a little of the history of the community of Romulus and the surrounding area among those who attended her funeral and burial services.

For businessmen

Ramada features buffet

A buffet style luncheon tailored to meet the short lunch hours of businessmen and others is now being featured in Delphine's Lounge in the Hilton Inn, 13500 Wick Rd., Romulus.

From 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., lunchers can choose from beef or ham for their meat dish and enjoy a salad, fresh fruit, a variety of vegetables, a relish tray, and cole slaw, all for $2.88.

While they dine, Delphine's customers can relax to the piano music of Jimmie Dixon in the background. Reservations are not necessary, according to Donna Salemi, Hilton's director of sales.

Immediately next door, Delphine's Restaurant serves breakfast, lunch and dinner from 6:30 a.m. until 2 a.m.

Hours for the lounge run from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m., with a "happy hour" from 5 to 9 p.m. daily.

Romulus asks grant to sell urban lots

The city of Romulus has applied to Wayne County for $125,000 to put 280 lots in the Wayne and Beverly roads urban renewal area in shape for resale to the general public.

According to Pat Hogan, newly-named director of community development and planning, the funds will pay for clearing up debris from the lots and for a market study that will determine kind of houses to be built, site plans, type of buyers and market value of the land.

The lots, of various sizes, are left over from the urban renewal project in that area and will be utilized solely for residential development, Hogan said.

A temporary on-site office will be erected on the premises to service prospective buyers with information on the lots and on mortgages available, he added.

Hogan said Romulus had also applied for $120,000 in federal grants for the fiscal year 1978-79. Of the total, slightly more than $43,000 will be used to finish urban renewal projects, with the balance going to the Old Village revitalization program, social services for the handicapped and neighborhood recreation programs, he said.

In September, Hogan said the city will seek funds from the county for its housing rehabilitation program whereby residents can obtain loans and grants for property improvements.

Low-cost glasses offer only to employees, seniors

Information recently announced by Romulus Clerk Leonard J. Folmar for low cost optical glasses for local residents was partly in error and is being corrected.

The plan, offered by Metro Optical Co., 7845 Middlebelt Rd., is actually available only to senior citizens and city employees rather than the entire city populace, the clerk explained under the plan, single vision glasses are priced at $16.70 and bifocal glasses at $21.70, complete with frames and eye examinations, he said.

Eligible persons may obtain a benefit card from the clerk's office at city hall, fill them out and take them to Metro Optical for their glasses, Folmar said.

Polka festival starts Saturday

This will be the scene Saturday when the St. Aloysius Polka Festival gets underway in Romulus at 11280 Orga Rd. Mayor William M. Oakley (right) will cut the ribbon officially opening the event which will be held Saturday, Sunday and Monday as the local church's first annual polka festival. A special "Polka Mass" at 10:30 a.m. Sunday will start the day's activities, followed by Tom Timmerman, former Detroit Tiger pitcher at 3 p.m., the Rzeszow Dancers at 4 p.m. and Big Daddy Lackowski at 5 p.m. "Wh odini" the magician will appear at 3 p.m. Monday. More funding needed

Seniors hot noon meals is task force priority

Wayne County officials are seeking immediate federal funding to feed an additional 1,000 senior citizens a hot noon meal under the county's nutrition program.

County commissioners say the extra money is necessary to "clear up a waiting list of some 500 homebound seniors and to meet the needs of another 500 seniors who have just started coming to one of the county's 47 suburban nutrition sites."

The announcement was made by five Western Wayne County commissioners who are members of a special nutrition task force that was recently formed to improve the out-Wayne County nutrition program. They are Kay Beard of Inkster, Thomas Presnell of Westland, Mary E. Dumas of Livonia, Richard E. Manning of Redford-Livonia and R. William Joyner of Plymouth.

The task force voted to seek additional federal funding following an Aug. 16 public hearing in Inkster, held to give seniors and nutrition site directors an opportunity to discuss their needs and offer suggestions on the program.

The task force fired off a letter to U.S. Commissioner on Aging Robert Benedict of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, asking emergency consideration for the supplemental funding when it was learned that an additional 1,000 seniors wanted to take part in the federally-funded program. The program currently provides some 3,000 hot noon meals Monday through Friday for seniors living in suburban Wayne County, plus the core cities of Highland Park and Hamtramck.

"Although the task force is seeking many improvements, our No. 1 priority is to feed more seniors," Beard said. "Even though the county recently got more money from the state to restore June cut-backs in the nutrition program, we still are turning about 500 seniors away at the door for lack of federal dollars."

"We have another 500 seniors who simply can't make it to the centers because of illness or other problems, but we have volunteers ready to deliver the meals if we can only get the money," she added.

Dante DiVitto, director of the Wayne County Office on Aging, said it would cost $400,000 to provide an additional 1,000 meals annually.

Beard and Presnell will also introduce a resolution before the Wayne County Board of Commissioners urging an overall upgrading and expansion of the federal nutrition program which is funded under the Older Americans Act.

The proposed Beard-Presnell resolution calls for:

— The federal government to increase the annual allotment for senior citizen nutrition programs to handle an ever-increasing elderly population.

— More federal dollars to upgrade the quantity and quality of the food being served, particularly in the fresh produce category to include more salads and fresh fruits.

— More flexible state and federal guidelines concerning off-site deliveries and service to shut-ins.

— Consideration by the federal government of expanding the Monday through Friday program to include weekend meals. (This currently is available in some areas of the nation, including the site at the Twin Towers in Inkster.)

Commissioners Manning, Dumas and Joyner emphasized that the task force would continue to monitor the nutrition program needs and would follow through on several issues raised by seniors at the public hearing.

Costumed families are just one sight of Fall Festival

Costumed families modeling their 1900 wardrobe; the melodic directions of the square dance caller, the scent of roasting chicken on an open barbeque. These are some of the sights, sounds and smells of the Plymouth Fall Festival.

Held annually, the four-day event will take place September 7-10 in the heart of the City of Plymouth — Kellogg Park.

The festival started 22 years ago as a picnic in the park, given by the Rotary Club. Chicken was barbequed and sold as friends and neighbors helped support this fund-raising event. Over the years other service groups mastered their own menus and the festival grew into a four-day feast.

You can go to Italy on Thursday with the Colonial Kiwanis Spaghetti Supper, enjoy a Fish Fry on Friday with the Lions Club. Pancakes and sausage will be served by the Kiwanis Club for breakfast, lunch and dinner on Saturday, or you can dine with the Jaycees Saturday evening as they spread out their Beef Rib Barbeque.

The Rotarians, of course, hold Sunday as their day for the traditional chicken barbeque.

Food is not the only interest. Flowers and vegetables are displayed and compared at the Produce Tent on Sunday, and costumes are judged for authenticity by the AAUW that afternoon at 1 p.m. Saturday brings out the animal lover in everyone as the Optimist Club hosts the Pet Show. Visit the Oddfellow's Flea Market, Arts Council's Arts and Crafts Show and the Symphony Antique Show. Businesses of Plymouth share in the fun by decorating their windows in an old fashioned theme.

Spend awhile and just tap your feet and clap your hands at the music and dance teams brought in from near and far.

will launch

'new tactic'

A new tactic in the battle against the "silent killer" will be introduced early this fall when Red Cross launches a high blood pressure detection, referral and follow-up program at its blood donor sites throughout southeastern Michigan.

Each time a person visits a Red Cross donor site to give blood, a blood pressure reading is taken as part of the routine pre-screening process for donors. Individuals with readings of 200-100, or higher, will be concentrated on in the program.

"We are hopeful that this will give medical personnel access to many people who may not otherwise be reached by other agencies conducting hypertension screening," explained Natalie Prince, RN, chairperson of the Nursing and Health Services Committee of the Red Cross Southeastern Michigan Chapter.

"The follow-up is planned for both people who are currently receiving treatment and those who are not," she added.

Last year, more than 255,000 potential blood donors registered at Red Cross blood collection sites in southeastern Michigan.

"About 10 percent of those people were deferred from giving blood for a variety of reasons, one of which is high blood pressure," said the committee chairperson, adding that the follow-up program has been based on the premise that there is a greater probability that a hypertensive patient will seek and continue treatment when someone other than a family member shows concern about his or her well-being.

The program is scheduled to go into operation Sept. 1.

Red Cross Nursing and Health Service regularly offers a free course throughout the community in which the basic skills of measuring blood pressure are taught to laypersons.

Pilot program established on direct payment to utility

Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) households in Wayne County may elect to have their heating fuel bills paid directly and automatically to Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. under a one-year pilot project outlined last week by officials of the Michigan Department of Social Services (MDSS).

The project, formally called the Voluntary Heating Fuel Budget Plan, according to MDSS Director John T. Dempsey, has been approved by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. It will safeguard the health and safety of children by assuring ADC families continuous heating fuel service.

"This plan will guarantee payment of their actual fuel cost, even if these costs exceed the amount budgeted," Dempsey said. "The plan also will prevent ADC families from getting hit with high heating bills during the winter months by spreading heating costs throughout the year."

Until contracts are negotiated with additional heating companies, enrollment is limited to customers of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Some 57 percent of Wayne County ADC households or more than 46,000 families receive heating fuel allowances. Approximately 40,000 of these families are served by Michigan Consolidated.

Under the budget plan, an ADC family may arrange for the Department of Social Services to deduct the monthly heating fuel allowance from the grant and have it paid directly to the gas company.

At the end of the year, the department will pay the gas company any difference between the recipient's total heating fuel payments and actual heating costs. If heating costs are less than the payments made, Michigan Consolidated will pay the difference to the recipient.

The Bible has the answer

The following question and answer column is supplied by The Rev. Ronald Elie, pastor of Zion Missionary Church of Belleville. Those readers with question for the pastor can mail them to The Rev. Elie at Zion Missionary Church, 89 Edgemont, Belleville 48111.

Dear Pastor Elie,

I just had my birthday. I'm 14, and I will start high school this year. I really want to become a Christian eventually, but not until after high school. There are many things I want to do in high school, but I feel I could not, if I were a Christian. God could forgive me after I graduate just as easy as now. What's wrong with waiting?

Jill
Belleville

Dear Jill,

The Bible gives the answer. "Remember . . . thy Creator in the days of thy youth." For many reasons this verse applies to us. The most important reason is the fact that you can not be sure that there will be any more days, let alone months, and years in which to turn to Jesus. You are expecting that you will be living three years from now, are you not taking that for granted?

But, even if you make it that long, how do you know that you will still want to give your heart to the Lord. The longer we hold off, the firmer grip sin gets on our life.

Even if you did surrender your heart to the Lord after you make it through high school, you would have consequences of sin which may scar you for life. It makes sense to "Remember . . . thy Creator in the days of thy youth." Eccles. 12:1.

Mismanagement threatens Sheriff's Department

On Monday, the Van Buren Board of Trustees approved a measure that would place the question of a four-mill tax increase on this November's ballot. The millage increase would be earmarked for expanding and updating the Van Buren Police Department.

The action by the board is a further indication of growing dissatisfaction among communities currently relying, in full or in part, on the Wayne County Sheriff's Department for police patrols.

Perhaps it is unfair to criticize the performance of the sheriffs of late, given the condition of Wayne County, currently pressed to the financial breaking point. But when dealing in a commodity as vital to the community as police protection, the question can only be how much, not if....

For many years, out-county areas were provided with their only police protection by the sheriffs. It was either that or nothing. In the beginning, the county sheriffs responded to the challenge with vigor even if the service was less than professional.

It is ironic that today, with the county sheriff's department having developed into an efficient crime fighting unit, well trained and organized, that county financial circumstances may bring down the final curtain on the sheriff's long and recently successful service to the community.

The Van Buren decision to seek a full-time force of its own, follows closely the same decision recently arrived at in Canton Township. And grumblings heard coming from other communities now utilizing the sheriffs for police protection, lead us to believe that the days of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, as we now know it, are numbered.

The villain? Inflation and the State of Michigan.

For years Lansing lawmakers have mandated new and expanded county programs with never a question of where the funding for those programs would come from. The burden then fell on the shoulders of the county to raise the necessary revenue for the mandated programs without cutting existing programs, many of which were also state mandated.

While the state must ultimately accept the responsibility for the demise of the sheriff's department, as we know it, the county must also share the blame.

County politics has long been the perfect example of self-interest at odds with public-interest.

A glance at the current county payroll will disclose a long list of former commissioners who have used their elected office with the county as a spring-board to financially secure high-paying county jobs. The only requirement for which appears to have been the commissioner's ability to convince his colleagues to create the positions in the first place.

This incest, to a large extent, along with the general poor management, is responsible for bringing the county to its knees.

In Van Buren Township, projected costs for the expanded 24-member police department is in the area of $600,000. In contrast, that same $600,000 spent with the county for sheriff's patrols, would provide just two cars.

It is really a wonder then, that Van Buren has made the decision to take the issue to the voters. It will be surprising if more communities currently relying on the sheriff's department, do not follow suit.

Of further interest is the fact that the Van Buren action comes at a time when many experts are counseling the principle of shared services. But shared services look much better on paper than on the community's streets.

In spite of the dire predictions coming from county officials relative to the potential impact on county government of a Michigan version of California's proposition 13, maybe such a measure would provide a new beginning for the mismanaged and crumbling Wayne County government.

Hall-of-Fame should be here

A recent issue of a Metro newspaper carried a story about the impending selection of the site for the National Bowling Hall of Fame.

In that story, it was pointed out that Detroit, one of the eight finalists for the site, is the country's leader in registered bowlers.

For the many who have been turned-away at the local alley on a Sunday afternoon, that fact will come as little surprise, but apparently officials in bowling are not aware of the overwhelming numerical superiority that Detroit can boast of.

The Bowling Hall of Fame has

Congressman replies

'Dear Editor.....'

Dear Dennis:

I read with interest your recent article addressed, "Dear Congressman," and assumed it was directed at me, since I represent all the communities served by your fine newspapers.

Your proposal for Uniform Auto Licensing at the Federal level has a high degree of merit, but upon close examination, it would seem to pose more problems than it would solve.

As you know, auto license plates represent an important source of income for all the states. Fees range from as low as $12 to as high as $100. Michigan's $20 average puts us in the lower category. The income to the state treasury from the owners of the estimated 6,000,000 vehicles in Michigan is about $120,000,000 a year. The state could hardly afford to give up this income.

License plates also serve as a valuable tool for law enforcement. Police depend upon legible, easily-read numbers in locating stolen cars, in tracing hit-run drivers, and in tracking down criminals who use automobiles.

The number of digits on present state license plates can be held to six, making for easier legibility. If we went to a nation-wide numbering system, it would require seven, and possibly eight, digits to handle the estimated 120,000,000 cars now in use, and the 10,000,000 to 11,000,000 added each year. This would require either smaller numbers, with less legibility, or larger plates, which would be more expensive and cumbersome.

Michigan at one time issued plates to each car when it was registered, and the plates stayed with that vehicle during its life. Some years ago, with strong police support, the system was changed so that plates are issued to the owner, and are transferred whenever he changes cars.

You mentioned in your article that I and other office-holders have promised to "bring government back to the people and reduce Federal spending."

Although I do not recall making this specific promise, I do agree with the premise, and this in itself is a powerful argument against turning another state function over to the Federal government.

I have consistently fought this trend; I prefer to keep as much authority and responsibility as possible in the hands of locally elected and state-elected officials, and not in the hands of appointed Federal bureaucrats.

In short, auto licensing by the states provides a self-enforcing tax, and this money, as you know, is used primarily to help maintain state highways. The present system, despite its drawbacks, is probably the best we can devise.

I do appreciate your interest, and hope to see more "Dear Congressman" letters in the future.

WILLIAM D. FORD
Member of Congress

Editor replies

'Dear Congressman.....'

To begin with, let me say how much I appreciate your response to my last letter. I realize that you are extremely busy in the pursuit of satisfying your commitment to the public, and it would have been understandable had you not replied. But since you not only answered the letter, but asked for more, I am happy to oblige.

As you must realize, congressman, the in's and out's of government bewilder the average citizen to the point of despair.

Many citizens feel that the process of government has been designed to discourage their input, and from my point of view, that conclusion is not entirely incorrect.

Starting at the local level where the citizen often encounters hostile resentment at his attempted involvement, the problem becomes even worse yet at the state level, and impossible altogether at the national level.

The problem becomes even more significant when you consider that most elected officials will quickly point out to the questioning citizen, his belief that our form of government provides for the elected official to represent, but not necessarily follow, the flow of public opinion in his district.

That being the situation, many citizens feel that their voice is not heard at all on the national level.

Now I realize this point is debatable depending on your perspective, but indications all suggest that most citizens are unhappy with their elected officials, with the primary reason for that dissatisfaction being the elected official's lack of accessibility.

It is just that lack of accessibility which prompts most to conclude that elected officials care little for the advice or suggestions coming from those they represent. And it is, I believe, that lack of accessibility which creates the suspicion and distrust of elected officials by the citizens.

Fully realizing the heavy schedule, and demands on the time, of our elected officials, I make the following suggestion:

You are one of the few elected officials who have demonstrated a concern for effective communications with those you represent. Since that is the case, I would ask you to go just a little further in that effort.

Why don't you schedule a town meeting in each of the 20 communities that you represent here in Western Wayne County.

You could either schedule the meeting throughout the year, say two a month, or during the summer recess in which case the meetings could be compressed into a shorter time period.

The format for the meetings should provide for the direct questioning on you, and-or your staff if available, by the members of the community who attend. An impartial moderator could be selected to provide for a more formal atmosphere if necessary, but formal or not, the benefit to the community and those citizens who participate would go far beyond the simple fact that they had the opportunity of meeting their congressman.

Gone would be the oft' held impression that congressmen all have two heads. Gone would be the image of our congressman as some faceless entity glimpsed only infrequently in the pages of the newspaper or on the television screen. And gone would be a substantial portion of the mistrust which many hold elected officials in.

Should you accept this suggestion, Associated Newspapers will be happy to inform the residents of the communities we serve of the time and dates for the 'Meet your Congressman Night'.

Reader hits poor fair coverage

Editor:

Today as I received my paper and with great anticipation I looked from cover to cover for some pictures or even a mention of our float in the 4-H parade.

But to my amazement there wasn't even an article about the parade. I maybe can understand not having pictures yet but come on now not even a mention after those people worked so hard to make their best parade yet.

I understand that it was a very hot, humid day, Sunday. But the people who were in the parade braved the heat to ride or even walk the parade route. So why not a reporter along to write about it.

Well as I settled down a little and started reading my paper what do I find but an article that said support your local fair. In the article you said that the children so look forward to their blue ribbons.

Well, we aren't children but grown people and we were and are proud of winning a blue ribbon for our float two years in a row.

Last year was a real disappointment not to see our float in the paper. But then again nothing this year was just too much.

You always yell support for everything. But then we are just a group of very nice ladies who are trying to take off some weight and were proud enough of the fact that we are doing some good and wanted people to see our lady who had lost 40-pounds.

We wanted people to know about it. What better way to do it then enter a float in the parade and see the results in the home town paper.

This is not a nice letter

Editor:

I presume that most of the letters you get are nice, well this one isn't.

First, I'd like to thank you for the beautiful way your paper (Belleville Enterprise) covered our old time threshing bee held on Aug. 6 here at our farm.

A Mrs. Hartwick called your office the week of Aug. 1 and gave someone all the information and that is the last heard of you.

Thanks to the Ypsi. Press and Channel 7, we had beautiful publicity.

Anxiously we waited until the Aug. 9th paper hoping you had sent a photographer out and covered the event, but alas, nothing.

We had a crowd of over 300 but have had people from Belleville say they didn't know about it.

So anyway, thanks again for nothing!

V.B. Education Board commended

Editor:

Van Buren Board of Education is to be commended for the cooperation and help they have given to the Van Buren Township's Recreation Department. This summer the school system made available to the Recreation Department Tyler and Quirk

Elementary Schools for a summer playground program that served 250 children over an eight-week period.

Because of the Board's cooperation, the Recreation Department will be able to offer a variety of quality programs in the future by using the school's facilities.

Again, I wish to take this opportunity to thank the School Board Members and the Buildings and Grounds Committee for their help and cooperation.

Mark J. Rairick, Director
Parks and Recreation Department

(Editor's Note: Associated Newspapers regrets that we were unable to cover the Wayne County Youth Parade. While we share with Mrs. Girard her pride in the accomplishments of her group, it is just physically impossible for the staff of the Belleville Enterprise to cover every community event. In the past year we have improved the local coverage of the community but we concede that some criticism is still valid, and we are working to further improve your community newspaper.)

The art of Dentistry..... Concluded

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

In this, the last in the series on dental care, we will present an overview and some miscellaneous bits of information we picked up during the course of interviewing for the first five columns.

Of the 6391 licensed dentists in Michigan, less than 10 percent are female. But, it appears that the percentage is gradually increasing, in that 35 out of the current class of 160 at The University of Michigan School of Dentistry are representatives of the fairer sex.

What is required for one to become a dentist? First, you must have a four-year bachelor degree from an accredited institution. Next, you must spend four more years in an accredited school of dentistry — there are two such schools in Michigan: The University of Michigan and the University of Detroit.

The four years spent in the dental school are very similar to the four years one spends in medical school.

You must demonstrate a competency in the basic sciences; e.g., bio-chemistry, physiology, pathology, histology, and anatomy, especially of the neck and head.

At the end of your first year of pure classwork, you are introduced to the clinical environment. For the next three years, your classwork becomes less intense as you spend more and more time in the clinic learning the art of your profession. Dentistry, like most professions, is both art and science.

After you have graduated from dental school and satisfied licensure requirements, you must, if you are to provide the best of service to your patients participate in continuing education courses, seminars, lectures, and stay current on the literature.

According to Dr. Eichler, "The state of the art in dentistry is growing at an incredible rate. Those practitioners who don't keep pace with this growth are perhaps doing a disservice both to the profession and to the patients who come to them anticipating appropriate dental care."

He said that it's been only recently that dentists have gained the respect which generally has always been accorded to the physician.

"We have more confidence in ourselves," he said, "and as such have been able to improve our self image. We have parallel interests with the physician in that we too are devoted to the delivery of quality health care service."

Indeed, from time to time we — the dentists and the physicians — consult on specific cases. After all, it's next to impossible to isolate one part of the human anatomy and function from the remainder of the person."

Dr. Eichler recited some criteria which he said he would recommend to people searching for a dentist.

"First," he said, "the dentist out to be one who takes a sufficient amount of time to study completely the conditions of the teeth and mouth. There's no need to hurry through any procedure. Next, a potential patient should examine the condition of the waiting room, the treatment room, and the appearance of the dentist himself."

If the general housekeeping and the dentist's mode of dress approximate what you consider appropriate, then you may opt to be treated with somewhat greater confidence.

"Thirdly, the dentist should be one who takes an interest in your total oral health and then describes for you a plan of treatment designed specifically to satisfy your needs."

"Lastly, you should have a general feeling of confidence in the practitioner. Your questions should be answered directly and with a vocabulary understandable to the layman. You should feel that your dentist is knowledgeable and competent."

As a final paragraph, I want to express my sincere thanks to Sheldon G. Eichler, DDS, who, in the spirit of public service, gave to me many hours of his valuable time to complete this series.

Like many professionals, he was motivated through a sense of duty and ethics.

Reflections

'You gotta be firm'

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

When one deals with kids one has to always remember to be firm. When one deals with stray animals one has to be twice as firm, because kids and stray animals go hand in hand. And if the parent lets his guard down for just one minute, then he finds his home swarming with kids and stray animals, and there's nowhere he can find peace.

It's especially hard for parents like me who are real suckers for big round eyes filled with pleading, or the piteous meow of a little stray cat, to stand absolutely firm. Besides being a sucker I'm allergic. I'm allergic to everything that has fur on it and walks on four legs.

So I've got to be firm.

Right at this minute while I'm sitting here writing, there's a gray striped cat meowing forlornly outside my door. I've already given him six cans of white meat tuna and a half gallon of milk and he is completely ungrateful.

He refuses to go away.

I keep saying to him, "Listen, little cat, if I give you one more can of white meat tuna, and another bowl of milk, will you please go home?"

I know I have to be firm so that I won't break out in hives and be unattractive to my husband, but why do I have to be soft-hearted? Of course, the man in my life calls it something else, like soft-headed, especially when his favorite blanket was used on the porch to wrap the cat in one night when it was raining.

I didn't do it...like I said, one has to be firm...but I didn't exactly say no to the kids when they suggested it, although I hadn't really meant for them to take their father's favorite blanket.

Of course, it's easy for a father to be firm. He goes out the door in the morning and scowls at the cat and authoritatively says, "Get rid of that cat."

When he comes home at night he says, "Did you get rid of that cat?" And the kids say, "No." And he climbs behind his newspaper and says, "I want you to get rid of that cat before I come home tomorrow evening."

Of course those kids know he doesn't mean it, because they remember the time a stray dog followed our oldest boy home, and walked right in without even a by-your-leave. He didn't leave that kid's side the whole evening, and at dinner time he insisted on sitting under the boy's chair.

When it was time for the kid to go to bed that big-shaggy black dog trundled right up the stairs alongside him, and took up his post beside the kid's bed. And he wouldn't budge.

When the kid's father came home, he said, "That dog has got to go."

So with manly authority he strode up those stairs and opened the door, and said, "Out."

That shaggy dog leaped to his feet, bared his fangs and GROWLED.

My little boy's father closed the door and came back downstairs and said, "I don't suppose it's going to hurt to let him stay the rest of the night."

As I said, the only way to deal with kids and stray animals is to be firm.

HEW demands equal spanking for girls

By Les Kinsolving

On August 1, 1978, Superintendent Dennis Carmichael of the Bellevue Public Schools in Washington state received the following directive from Marlaine Kainer of the Seattle office of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and welfare:

"The Bellevue Public Schools must submit a plan that will guarantee equal treatment on the basis of sex in disciplinary matters, and in particular the administration of corporal punishment."

The Bellevue Schools spank unruly students as a last resort: with adult witnesses, and after contact with parents.

During the academic year of 1975-76, the school authorities spanked 30 boys — but only two girls.

One parent complained to HEW that this was "sexist" — so Secretary Califano's local social engineers issued the Paddle-The-Girls-As-Much-As-The-Boys edict.

When news of this mountainous assinity hit the local press, all Puget Sound reverberated with such a cacophony of laughter and anti-governmental jeers, that the local HEW leader decided to send out a corrective to her order for punitive affirmative action.

Not content with having added so substantially to HEW's long roll of idiocies (such as ordering a faculty wives club to admit faculty husbands), Miss Kainer drew a bead on Bellevue's Boys Chorus and ordered:

"For those courses described by a gender term — for example 'Boys Chorus' — steps should be taken to change labeling, or otherwise make clear that courses are open to students of both sexes."

Of course.

No need to change the name of the Boys Chorus. Just announce that henceforth the Boys Chorus will be open to girls.

Where DOES Joe Califano recruit such giants of reason?

The Seattle Times had a valuable suggestion: administer corporal punishment to all girls who refuse to join the Boys Chorus.

What must Washington State think of Washington, D.C.?

3 critically injured in I-275 collision

Three were critically hurt in a two-truck collision at 8 a.m. Monday on the I-275 and Michigan Avenue.

According to police reports it appears that a truck hauling steel axles collided with a dump truck hauling asphalt when the steel truck's transmission locked and apparently exploded.

Dennis Zierele, the driver of the steel hauler, with his 10-year-old daughter Kimberly was transporting the steel axles for General Motors Company. While traveling northbound on the freeway, it appears that Zierele's transmission locked causing him to swerve into the other truck.

The other truck involved in the collision was driven by William Burk who was transporting asphalt to a GM plant in Ypsilanti.

From the appearance of the debris thrown about at the scene, Canton Township Police officer Lou Stevens says that he believes that the transmission might have exploded.

"But we're still investigating. So far we can't say anything for certain," said Stevens who is working on the investigation with two detectives from the department.

He said only that Burk was able to comment, that all he remembers was being hit, before going into a dizzy spell.

Both Zierele and his daughter were unable to comment.

All three of the injured were taken to Wayne County General Hospital and will be questioned at a later date.

Zierele is suffering from a broken collar bone, a broken leg, punctured ribs and other cuts and bruises. His daughter has a broken wrist, multiple injuries to her ribs and minor cuts and bruises, according to the hospital report.

Burk, a resident of Detroit is in critical condition, but improving.

The Ziereles, from Centerville Michigan, started out on the trip at 4:30 that morning according to the police.

CETA trains hirees

The Wayne County Office of Manpower not only offers jobs, it teaches you how to perform them. Under a CETA program, county residents will be accepted for vocational training in a number of fields.

Currently, there's a pre-apprenticeship program in ceramic tile setting being offered through the CETA grant.

To qualify, applicants must be Wayne County residents, except for Detroit, Dearborn, or Livonia, unemployed or under-employed, physically fit, and have a valid drivers license.

Tile setting involves the kind of ceramic tiles that are often plastered onto bathroom walls. Applications for this training are now being taken by the Office of Manpower, Vocational Education Unit, 224-7148.

But tile setting is only one of a number of different CETA programs offered.

Other kinds of jobs go into into medicine: licensed practical nurse, EKG technician, medical laboratory technician, nurse's aide, medical assistant.

Also available are computer programmer and operator, repairer, radio and TV repair, and keypunch operator.

There are also CETA openings at times for secretaries, truck drivers, mechanics, and FCC technicians. A CETA job is essentially on-the-job training with the government paying a salary that usually runs $8,500, but can reach $10,000.

The Ceramic Tile Setting School at 538-3388, has information about the current job offering; while Pat Urban at the Office of Manpower, 224-7178, has information about the vocational program in general.

MUSICAL NOTES

by Doug Brown

Do you know which composer is a graduate of law school? The answer is Peter Tchaikovsky. He graduated from law school in St. Petersburg in Russia in 1859. After graduation, he studied composition with Anton Rubenstein, gave up his law practice and devoted the rest of his life to the profession of music composition. In Vienna, Paris and Berlin, his first works were disliked, but later on, became very popular. At age 26, he became Professor of Harmony at the Moscow Conservatory. He somewhat specialized in writing melancholy pieces. One of the world's greatest pieces of music is his last symphony, "The Sixth or Pathetic Symphony".

Our specially trained staff at DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. STROKE

Do you know the warning signs?

One of the most frightening of all the afflictions that can befall the human body has always been stroke. Located in the brain, that most mysterious of all human organs, it was thought that a stroke came completely without warning, leaving its victims with a variety of impaired capacities ranging from slight speech difficulties to total disability.

After years of research and careful observation, however, much of the mystery is gone. Many of the causes are now known, and diagnostic techniques, drugs, surgery and therapy have given the stroke patient a much brighter outlook than was once possible.

Just as important, it is now known that a stroke often gives warning of its impending approach—days, weeks or even months before it happens.

According to Dr. Richard Antell, president of the Michigan Heart Association, the warning signs of stroke are:

- A sudden, temporary weakness of numbness of the face, arm or leg.
- Temporary difficulty or loss of speech, or understanding speech.
- Sudden, temporary dimming of loss of vision, particularly in one eye.

- An episode of double vision.
- Unexplained headaches, or a change in the pattern of headaches.

- Temporary dizziness or unsteadiness.

- A recent change in personality or mental ability.

What, exactly, is a stroke?

Dr. Antell explained: "A stroke occurs when a portion of the brain ceases to receive oxygen-rich blood, because of either a blood clot or hemorrhage. Deprived of oxygen, brain cells cannot function, and that part of our body controlled by those cells cannot function either."

An estimated 1,840,000 people in the U.S. are afflicted with stroke. In 1975, stroke killed nearly 200,000 people.

"These are tragic figures," said Dr. Antell, "when so many strokes could be prevented."

How?

"In general, if you're following a 'heart-healthy' lifestyle, you're also reducing your risk of stroke, since stroke is a form of cardiovascular disease."

"First among the risk factors," said Dr. Antell, "is high blood pressure. A man with a systolic blood pressure over 150 has nearly four times the risk of stroke as a man whose reading is under 120."

"Next is cigaret smoking. A man who smokes more than a pack of cigarets a day runs a risk nearly five times as great a risk as that of a non-smoker.

"High cholesterol is another factor. A man with a serum cholesterol of 250 or over runs three times the risk of stroke as a man with a reading below 194."

"Also, I must add—watch your weight and get regular exercise."

"And remember the warning signs mentioned earlier. If you have had one or more of them, see your doctor. Early detection is still the best weapon that your doctor—and you—have."

Dr. Antell concluded: "If you'd like more information on stroke, just call any office of the Michigan Heart Association. Remember, 'we're fighting for your life.'"

The Michigan Heart Association is a United Way agency.

Group studies funding for centralized court

A citizen task force will be named soon to study funding sources for the proposed construction of a $65 million Wayne County central courts facility in downtown Detroit.

The creation of a task force composed of community officials, business and labor representatives and interested citizens was authorized by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners at an Aug. 10 meeting.

The board's public works committee had recommended that a citizen task force be named to seek state and federal funding for the project on July 20.

The proposed new facility would house the 33-member Wayne Circuit, Common Pleas and Probate courts, plus the two new circuit judgeships mandated by the state, under one roof—a 36-story addition to the City-County Building.

The recommendation followed a request from Chief Circuit Court Judge Richard D. Dunn, who said the present court arrangement is "almost intolerable."

"The courts are now scattered in five different locations," Dunn stated. "The burden of moving witnesses, attorneys, files and jurors from building to building—with some nearly 10 blocks away—is unbelievable. It costs us considerable court time—and that means court backlog and inefficient use of tax dollars."

The new facility would free-up 100,000 square feet in the City-County Building 51,000 in the Old County Building, thereby allowing other county offices to move in and avoid huge rent payments.

Under the present system with rental arrangements, it would cost taxpayers $571 million over the next 40 years, but ownership would bring the cost down to $391 million.

The project would create 1,200 jobs for three years, meaning a $29 million payroll for on-site labor.

The citizens committee will be appointed soon by Board Chairman Jarrette Simmons.

Lawmakers toughen attitude on narcotics

The State Legislature has taken a much tougher attitude toward the narcotics traffic, career criminals, arson and other criminal activities.

That's the word from State Rep. Edward Mahalak (D-38th District).

According to the Romulus Democrat, the traffic in heroin and other illegal drugs is a serious statewide problem in Michigan, causing a spiral of drug-related crimes.

A series of bills that cleared the legislature, and has been signed into law, will require harsh mandatory sentences for large-scale narcotics dealers. The required sentences range from mandatory probation for life or 10 to 20 years imprisonment for conviction of dealing in 50 to 225 grams of opium and its derivatives, which includes heroin or cocaine, to 20 to 30 years for 225 to 650 grams and life imprisonment for 650 grams or more. Six hundred and fifty grams is 23 ounces, which has a street value of as much as $1 million, Mahalak said.

A second conviction in the 50 to 650 gram range would carry a mandatory life sentence, he added, saying that the new laws allow no suspended sentences, or any parole or time off for good behavior, for any of the prison sentences.

"These penalties may seem very harsh, but are not inappropriate in terms of the damage that drug dealers do to society," Mahalak said. "The potential for profit is so great in drug dealing that the old penalties posed little or no deterrent to would-be violators, with lenient probation and parole policies weakening the threat of imprisonment still further."

Two other new laws will better equip police in their investigations of suspected arson cases, he continued.

One of the two bills established an arson strike force in the State Police Fire Marshal Division, with authority to investigate every case involving conspiracy to commit arson, a fire set to defraud, or any other act of arson. It also will make information, technology and skills available to local arson investigators, he said.

The second law will make available to arson investigators information which could aid them in their work. It requires insurance companies to release information in their files to arson investigators, upon request, and protects the companies against civil liability for doing so.

"The insurance companies often had been reluctant to release this information for fear of prosecution or civil action by someone who might consider himself injured or defamed by the transmission of such information, despite the fact that the files can be of considerable value to arson investigators," Mahalak said.

In a move to get violent criminals and accused criminals off the streets, the legislature adopted a proposed constitutional amendment which would limit the guaranteed right to bail. The proposal will be on the November general election ballot.

The Michigan Constitution presently guarantees the right to bail to all except those accused of murder or the rare crime of treason.

Directed against the "career criminals," the constitutional amendment would permit a judge to deny the right to bail for a person accused of a felony after two or more convictions of violent crimes in the past 15 years and for those accused of a violent crime while on bail for another felony count.

The proposal also would allow the court to deny bail to those accused of armed robbery, kidnapping with intent to extort money or first-degree criminal sexual conduct (violent or forceful rape).

Also signed into law was a bill to effectively crack down on the distribution of pornography to minors, carrying a penalty of up to two years in prison and a fine of as much as $10,000, Mahalak said.

"Unlike an earlier law, which the courts held to be unconstitutional, the new legislation is written in a way which is expected to fully meet court standards," he explained.

Two other new laws set harsher penalties for the use of minors in pornographic productions and legally makes such use of minors a form of child abuse.

These penalties may seem very harsh...

Garden Doctor says...

This week the Garden Doctor talks about:

Q: Crickets have been coming into our home. What control measures should be taken.

A: There are three basic steps to control crickets wandering into the home. First, caulk crevices that might be admitting them. Clear away grass that might be growing immediately along the foundation. Spray along the exterior foundation with diazinon. Spot treat indoor areas where they are found with 0.5 percent Baygon aerosol.

Q: Our tomatoes are still blooming and setting fruit. Will these blossoms be able to produce ripe tomatoes before the killing frost? If not I'd like to remove them so more energy goes into the fruit already growing there.

Allow 6 to 7 weeks from flowering to ripened tomatoes. That means tomatoes flowering before August 22 should produce ripe tomatoes before the date of killing frost for Southeastern Michigan. Even flowers blooming after August 22 might produce large green tomatoes that could be fried as green tomatoes or ripened indoors.

Q: We want to reseed bare areas in our lawn now, but have a lot of crabgrass growing there. Can we kill the crabgrass and then seed?

A: Using weedkiller just previous to fall seeding is risky so isn't recommended. Since crabgrass is an annual that is quite easily controlled by a preemergence weed-killer in the spring, proceed with digging up the area, rake aside the crabgrass showing on the surface and seed as usual. Then use a pre-emergent crabgrass control in late April or early May.

School safety still a problem

Careless motorists, unpredictable students cited

While school-age pedestrians' traffic injuries and deaths decreased 24 percent in 1977 compared with the previous 10-year average, school safety remains a serious problem due to the combination of careless motorists and unpredictable students.

Ninety-nine percent of the injuries and fatalities involving youngsters aged 5 to 14 occur at areas not manned by safety patrolmen, adult crossing guards or police officers," stated Arthur C. Gibson, Automobile Club of Michigan's safety and traffic engineering manager. Gibson pointed to children crossing streets to mid-block as the cause of more than two-thirds of the 2,090 child pedestrian injury and fatality accidents last year, while carelessness contributed to at least 75 percent of the 2,077 injury and death accidents involving young bicyclists. "This year we are emphasizing the importance of having youngsters, especially the 154,000 kindergartners attending classes for the first time, cross streets only at designated school crossings," he said. "It is essential that parents make children aware of the dangers of crossing streets or riding bikes without proper safety precautions," Gibson warned. The Auto Club suggests that parents teach children these simple rules for walking or riding bicycles to school: — Walk only on the sidewalk. If there is none, walk facing traffic on the shoulder of the road. — Cross only at designated school crossings. — Look all ways before crossing and walk instead of run across streets. — Obey safety patrol or crossing guards.

Motorists are reminded to be extra cautious in school areas and to drive at a reduced speed. Drivers also should be alert for children darting into the street from driveways or between parked cars and should watch out for students when turning right on a red traffic signal.

Citizen groups sought to pass out Vial of Life

Citizens, students, and service clubs are being urged to join the big "Vial of Life March" in Wayne County on October 7.

Thousands of volunteers are being asked to help distribute "Vial of Life" kits, which will include a specially-marked vial (small pill bottle) and important medical information forms to every household in their neighborhoods.

The big march is being organized by the Wayne County Vial of Life Task Force, chaired by Wayne County Commissioner Ervin A. Steiner Jr.

Steiner said: "Several groups are already on the bandwagon — but we need hundreds more to make the march a success."

The Vial of Life program currently is operating in seven suburban communities and a portion of Detroit, but that it should be county-wide because the program "does save lives in emergency situations", Steiner added.

The idea behind the vials is to provide emergency teams with vital medical information at the scene of an emergency. Citizens will be urged to place the information sheets (designed by the Wayne County Health Department) into their vial and put the vial in their refrigerator. Vial-of-life stickers will identify participating households. And emergency workers will be trained to look for the identifying decals.

FLOWERS AT FUNERALS

In ancient days, fragrant flowers and strongly scented spices were ever-present at funerals. Wild flowers lent a natural beauty to the funeral home along with a "living" tribute to the departed tribesman. Flower and spice fragrances "perfumed" the area. Today, flowers have retained an important place in funeral service. Today we can't always pick our own flowers so we have florists who design and produce breathtakingly beautiful floral pieces. Flowers add a bright, colorful beauty to a setting which may seem sombre to some. Flowers still add beauty to a casket and provide a hint of delicate fragrance. Floral pieces treat kindly our senses of sight and smell. Still a "living" tribute, they are an emotional contribution to the comfort of the surviving family, a testimonial that the funeral, indeed, is for the living. As an expression of sympathy and love, flowers serve admirably when the sender cannot be present to offer condolences. Most florists have developed special floral arrangements for funerals. If you have questions about funeral flowers, ask us — better still, ask a florist!

Energy assistance project misses its $38 million goal

A program begun last January to distribute about $38 million to low-income Michigan households as a state grant to help residents pay rising heat and utility costs is falling short of its goal, despite a recent three-month legislative extension, easing of eligibility requirements and direct payment to some applicants instead of to their fuel suppliers.

Karlene Kraai, director of the Michigan Department of Social Services' (MDSS) Energy Assistance Program, explained: "We've spent about $18.3 million through July, and we probably have another $2 million committed in new and reviewed applications, and in follow-up payments.

"It is surprising that with the new rules we've only received less than 5,000 new applications since the extension went into effect in mid-June."

The change Mrs. Kraai predicted would bring in the largest number of new applications was the permission given by the legislature to send checks of from $60 to $160 directly to qualified applicants who pay all of their utilities along with their rent.

Under rules of the original law signed by the governor last December, renters whose utilities were included in one charge were not eligible for the grant. Others who did qualify had checks mailed on their behalf by the state directly to their utility suppliers to be applied to their account to either cover arrearages or to be credited against future costs.

The amendment — signed into law June 21 — did result in a significant percentage of new, direct-payment applicants. However, overall response since the extension and rule changes has been limited compared with the number of applications received during the first four months of the program.

Another change—eliminating a $15,000 liquid-assets ceiling—has produced a negligible response, Mrs. Kraai said. Extension of the application deadline, however, has resulted in about 2,500 applications from households that did not apply before the original April 30 cutoff.

The program was designed to ease the burden of rising fuel costs to low-income and elderly Michigan households. Although cash assistance recipients (Aid to Dependent Children and General Assistance clients, for example) and full-time students who are claimed as dependents of another household are not eligible, food stamp and Medicaid beneficiaries among others are eligible, if they meet the primary low-income consideration. Qualification is determined first on 1977 household income which cannot have exceeded $7,300 for a family of four or $7,000 for an elderly household in which at least one member is 65 years old or older.

Applications are available at local DSS offices throughout the state, area Agency on Aging sites, fuel and utility company offices, and other local and regional community centers.

Persons who think they qualify may also contact the Energy Assistance Program office at 5511 Enterprise Drive, P.O. Box 30027, Lansing 48909, for an application. The toll-free telephone line (1-800-292-5930) is staffed between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday to handle questions about the program.

Top attractions

When the annual Wayne County 4-H Fair opened its doors earlier this month animals like Tippy (left), a crossbred Hereford-Angus, and Holly, a purebred Maine Anjou, were among the top attractions along with their owners.

Showing off the two "critters" at the fair were Ken Sleath of Saline (from left), Debbie Grimm of New Boston, Junior Block and Debbie's father, Earl Grimm of New Boston.

Book answers questions on school voucher plan

The school voucher system and its allied property tax cut — an alternative to financing elementary and secondary education — is a highly controversial issue facing Michigan voters in the November general election.

What is the school voucher system? Can schools be organized to give students a better education? How will it improve public education in Michigan at less cost to the taxpayers?

In a well-thought out program dealing with education in Michigan, R.J. Lytle answers these questions constructively in his latest book,

"Property Tax Cut and School Vouchers."

Lytle explains in clear, concise language that parents and taxpayers can understand, how a voucher system works, what the school voucher proposal will do in Michigan, and how it compares with other tax reform proposals. The objective is obtained by a practical realization of the voucher theory — giving school money to parents and permitting them a choice of schools.

The pocketbook size paperback, with a first-edition printing of 100,000 copies, will be published Sept. 15, and will cost 50 cents.

Lytle is an author, publisher and a manufacturer of building products. Beyond his business interests, Lytle's 10 children — all educated in public schools — have caused him to maintain a strong interest in schools. He is a member of the Education Committee, Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

Nearly complete

The clubhouse on the site of the Westland City Golf Course on Merriman south of Cherry Hill is nearly complete, down to the surfacing of the parking lot and landscaping. However, city officials are scratching their heads over what to do about watering the 9-hole course. The plan was to dig a well and irrigate with water from it. However, the first try for a well came up dry. They're pumping again, and hoping for a gusher. — ANP photo by Tom Greenwood.

Westland drills for a 'gusher'

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

The City of Westland is drilling for a gusher, but it's not oil they're after. Oil won't do much good watering a nine-hole golf course.

The city is digging for water and is counting on that well coming through to irrigate the municipal golf course being readied on Merriman Road just south of Cherry Hill.

The clubhouse is nearly complete, the parking lot paved, lights installed, landscaping in, and cart shelter built.

Now the city needs water and four weeks to seed and fertilize the course itself. But the first try at digging a well came up dry and empty, said Ralph Tack, parks and recreation director.

If they can hit water soon, then spend about a month greening the course, the facility might still open for about four weeks before the season ends. That's Tack's optimistic outlook.

The pessimistic outlook is that if no water is found, the facility will have to tap into the city water system, at no small expense and trouble.

The course is being developed through the city Building Authority on about 48 acres of land near the Cherry Hill and Merriman corner. The course is laid out next to and behind the newly constructed Birch Hill shopping plaza. The entire corner land area used to be the 18-hole Birch Hill golf course, but lay vacant for years after it closed.

The golf course architects apparently decided to use a well to supply water for sprinkling as a money saving maneuver in planning the course, Tack said. They didn't foresee this difficulty in locating water.

Once it is, if it is found, the water will feed an above-ground reservoir "pond" on the course, which will feed the underground irrigation system.

After perhaps a few weeks of play on the course, it will close for the winter and start up with full play next spring.

'Big Mac' beckons for annual strollers

For those of you who will be heading north this Labor Day Weekend and who have an inkling to take a stroll, the 21st annual Mackinac Bridge Walk is scheduled to begin at 7:30 a.m. Labor Day, Sept. 4.

Last year some 27,500 individuals made the trek across the bridge over the beautiful and historic Straits of Mackinac. This year, weather permitting, the number of walkers should increase "the world's greatest walking event".

An important change is that buses transporting bridge walkers to the starting point at St. Ignace, or the north side of the bridge, will be boarding in a new location. The boarding site and bus ticket sales location this year will be in an area north of the Traverse Bay Woolen Company on Huron Street in Mackinaw City. Bus tickets are 50 cents; children under 12 are free.

No dogs, except seeing eye, will be permitted to participate in the bridge walk. This rule will be strictly enforced for the convenience and safety of the vast majority of the bridge walkers.

Also, bridge walkers should bear in mind that there are no relief stations on the bridge. Porta-johns will be provided at the north and south ends of the bridge.

The 144th Michigan National Guard of Owosso will be assisting with traffic and crowd control, and north- and southbound vehicular traffic will be maintained during the bridge walk on the two west lanes of the bridge. Walkers utilize the two east lanes until approximately 10 a.m. At that time one of the east lanes will be taken over by northbound traffic, and walkers will be squeezed into one lane.

The Hiawathaland Council of the Boy Scouts of America, Troop No. 127, stationed at the south end of the bridge, will be passing out certificates to bridge walkers attesting to their having completed the 1978 walk.

Stores and freezes beautifully

For the many who do not have homes with "preserving closets" this recipe for Grape-Plum Jelly is the answer. It stores in the refrigerator for up to three weeks and keeps for months in the freezer. Powdered fruit pectin assures a successful "set". (Photo courtesy Sure-Jell fruit pectin.)

For your recipe file

Non-cooked freezer jelly

See those fresh Concord grapes in the market? They're ideal for matching with fully ripe plums in a tantalizing freezer jelly you can make so easily. Store several jars in the freezer so that you can serve on fresh bread and biscuits when fresh fruit is just a memory. Keep a few jars aside to spread on warm muffins for afterschool snacking.

There is nothing easier than making freezer jellies. Standard jelly jars with two-part lids or small reusable containers not over a pint capacity can be used, such as glass jars that once held jam, instant coffee or mayonnaise. You can also use dishwasher-safe plastic containers such as those for storing margarine and frozen whipped topping.

Freezer jelly may be stored in the freezer or refrigerator. Recommended freezer storage time is about six months. Jam or jelly either freshly made or thawed from freezer storage can be kept in the refrigerator up to three weeks.

After preparing the freezer Grape-Plum Jelly with powdered fruit pectin, broaden your experience by making the easy freezer Grape Jelly which uses liquid fruit pectin. You'll be a veteran at jelly making.

Special Information About Certo and Sure-Jell Fruit Pectin

Try to use commercial pectin the same season as it is purchased. Liquid fruit pectin should be stored in a cool, dry place. Once the bottle is open, it should be recapped and the remainder stored in the refrigerator to be used within a month. Since liquid pectin thickens in the refrigerator, allow it to stand at room temperature for about one hour before using. If the liquid fruit pectin is still congealed or set in the bottle, it is likely that it has lost its jelling strength and should not be used.

As with liquid fruit pectin, powdered fruit pectin should be stored in a dry, cool place. Although the packaging provides excellent protection, hot humid places will shorten the life of the product. If powdered pectin becomes rather brown in color and caked, this is a sign that it has lost some of its jelling strength and should not be used.

Grape Jelly

2 cups prepared juice (about 2 lb. fully ripe Concord grapes)
4 cups (1-3/4 lb.) sugar
2 tablespoons water
1/2 bottle liquid fruit pectin

First prepare the containers. Use only containers 1 pint or less in size that have tight-fitting lids. Wash, scald and drain containers and lids, or use automatic dishwasher with really hot (150 degrees or higher) rinse water.

Then prepare the juice. Stem and thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 2 pounds Concord grapes. Place crushed fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 2 cups juice into large bowl or pan.

Then make the jelly. Thoroughly mix sugar into juice; let stand 10 minutes. Mix water and fruit pectin in small bowl; stir into juice. Continue stirring about 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain). Quickly pour into containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature until set (may take up to 24 hours); then store in freezer. If jelly will be used within 2 or 3 weeks, it may be stored in the refrigerator. Makes about 4 cups of 4 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Note: For ease in extracting juice, heat grapes slightly then crush using a potato masher or food mill.

Grape-Plum Jelly

3 cups prepared juice (about 1-1/2 lb. fully ripe Concord grapes and 1-1/2 lb. fully ripe plums)
6 cups (2 lb. 10 oz.) sugar
3/4 cup water
1 box (1-3/4 oz.) powdered fruit pectin

First prepare the containers. Use only containers 1 pint or less in size that have tight-fitting lids. Wash, scald and drain containers and lids, or use automatic dishwasher with really hot (150 degrees or higher) rinse water.

Then prepare the juice. Thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 1-1/2 pounds Concord grapes. Place crushed fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 1-1/2 cups into large bowl or pan. Pit (do not peel) about 1-1/2 pounds plums. Chop very fine; then place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 1-1/2 cups into bowl with the grape juice.

Then make the jelly. Thoroughly mix sugar into juices; let stand 10 minutes. Mix water and fruit pectin in small saucepan. Bring to a boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir into the juices. Continue stirring about 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain). Quickly pour into containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature until set (may take up to 24 hours); then store in freezer. If jelly will be used within 2 or 3 weeks, it may be stored in the refrigerator. Makes about 6 cups or 6 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Note: For ease in extracting juice from grapes, heat fruit slightly, then crush using a potato masher or food mill.

Disney World on calendar for septette

Despite the fact that "It's a Small World" was still running through their brains and visions of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Pluto were cavorting through their heads, the Fergusons and Shepherds managed to come back down to earth and find their way back to Belleville after a 2-weeks vacation in Florida.

Alas, there was no magic carpet, monorail or steamboat to carry them home; the harsh realities of life loomed large as they settled down once again to their car-trailer-truck routine after a never-never land visit to Disney World near Orlando.

The Fergusons — Roger, Diane, Leslie, Shawn and Shari — and Diane's folks, Art and Verdys Shepherd, are now included among the millions (billions?) who've become enthralled with the Magic Kingdom. During their 4-day stay the group headquartered at Disney's Fort Wilderness Campgrounds where they had a fabulous view of Cinderella's castle, Tinkerbell and all the other Disney creations.

The highlight of their many hours in the complex was the Diamond Horse-shoe Show when Art was picked out from the crowd to enact "Slewfoot Sue's" big city guy and was given a very special gift for his talents. Not to be outdone, Verdys too, was chosen to dance with "Diamond Jim" who presented her with a lovely red rose.

Other spots well etched in their travel memory banks are Weeki Wachi, Cypress Gardens, the Kennedy Space Center and the Air Force Museum in Dayton, Ohio enroute home.

Spirits never faltered despite a little truck trouble, car faults and those sudden flash showers most everyday in the "Sunshine State."

Les, who'd just gotten his driver's permit before leaving, had the honor of driving most all the way and tallying up some 2,740 miles on the odometer.

LAKESIDE PICNIC FOR CLUB

A picnic with a view was on the calendar Saturday, Aug. 19, for members of the Suburban Hammond Organ Society, a group of keyboard buffs who meet monthly from October to May in each others' homes.

A dinner and dancing usually brings club activities to a close but members usually tuck a summer get-together in about August.

Gwen and "Lieb" Liebel hosted this year's party on the lawn of their Ormond Drive home overlooking Belleville Lake. Cocktails at three o'clock, a big potluck dinner and some lawn games vied with lots of conversation for the main activity of afternoon.

In from Florida and able to be with their former clubsters were charter members, Bud and Iva Lindemann, who came with Earl and Doris Lindemann of Potter Drive with whom they'd been visiting.

Others at the party were Dr. Carl Sprunk and his wife, Virginia, of Farmington Hills; Marty and Mary Schmitz of Livonia; Jim and Audrey Fischer of Dearborn Heights; Ann Lindberg and Ruth McDonough of Detroit; Ella Minarik of Dearborn; Stan and Doris Thompson of Allen Park and Merle and Midge Tucker of Taylor.

Bellevillites attending were the Bert Smiths who came with weekend houseguests, Luanne and Pete Schonfeld of Evanston, Ill.; Merrill and Nora Bird and Wiley and Lee Reel.

The nest is empty again. The girls left Sunday for another year at Western. Our car has been heading for Kalamazoo for so long (some seven years) that we just set it on automatic pilot whenever we start out and off we go!

Two girls, two wardrobes, two stereos and TV's, bedspreads, linens, pillows, carpeting samples to piece together, boxes of school supplies, laundry and bath necessities, albums, shelves, tables — well, nearly two rooms of furniture to be brief.

Oh, my, I forgot the plants — Sue's enormous fern and fig tree plus a dozen other varieties not to mention Carol's huge collection of fauna.

We had a LOAD Sunday to put it mildly — and we left the WINTER stuff behind for later transporting.

The house is quiet — no more "Grease" pounding out from the stereo. The car situation is once again resolved. Dinner routines are back on kilter. The phone is no longer strung across the kitchen and hangs silently and lonely on the wall. The water meter has ended its frenzied summer whirl and the bathrooms have lost their London fog eeriness.

The girls' father (what's his name?) and I will become reacquainted at the dinner table where we will be able to hear each other again and I'll have to adjust everything back to "twosville" once more.

Yes, the nest is empty — (and we miss them already.)

Remember when anyone garbed in pants and HIGH HEELED SHOES (or high heels and ankle socks) was instantly tagged as "Just off the boat?"

Well, get used to the look cuz straight-legged jeans (often labeled "pencil" or "cigarette" pants) are "in" with HEELS, the higher the haute-er.

CHEERS—OH, CHEERS!! — To the WCRC for ironing out two very jarring bumps on the route into the city, on East Huron River Drive; one near Pappy's Service (Gene's and Junior's place) and the other near the end of Bedell Street. And — (oh, what a relief it is) — to Washtenaw County for finally, FINALLY waking up to the fact that vehicles were practically being tossed sideways by the pitted bump on I-94 near the Willow Run cut-off.

JEERS: To BOTH road commissions for TAKING SO LONG to make the corrections.

If you've ever wondered what one bushel of tomatoes can produce, let me fill you in . . . 18 quarts of tomato juice, for one thing. Double that for two bushes! (plus I got an extra pint) — the third, fourth, etc. await their transformation into still more juice and stewed tomatoes. At this time of year I always petition for cool days; canning's a HOT job!

It never ceases to amaze us here at the E-R office that people STILL come in wanting to buy license plates, looking for the police department or seeking their former insurance or real estate agents.

We've been ensconced at 116 Fourth Street (use the side entrance, we say) for almost four years now having made the big move from "up front" where we encamped and bumped elbows for close to two years. License plates haven't been sold in this building for ages and it's been just EONS since the chief of police and his staff called this headquarters.

Toner-Veazey set spring altar date

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Toner of 14825 Huron River Dr., Romulus, announce the engagement and spring wedding date of their daughter, Shawn S. Toner, and Michael E. Veazey, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Veazey of 28635 West Rd., New Boston.

The bride-elect, a 1977 graduate of Romulus High School, is employed by Americoffee Corp. in Oak Park.

Her fiancé graduated from Huron High School in 1974 and is an employee of Wood Motors in Detroit.

The young couple plan to be married on April 28, 1979.

MISS TONER

Harnischs total up 52nd year

Mr. and Mrs. Max Harnisch Sr., who have made their home with their son, Max Harnisch II of Belleville, since December of 1977, marked their 52nd wedding anniversary on Aug. 28.

The couple, members of St. John's Lutheran Church in Waltz, exchanged wedding vows in Detroit in 1926, Mrs. Harnisch being the former Edna Karsnick of Detroit.

Other members of the Harnischs family tree are their three grandchildren: Michael Harnisch of Fenster Street; Max Harnisch III of Bohn Road and Mary Harnisch of Martinsville Road, all in Belleville.

Their two great-grandchildren are Michael Wayne Harnisch and Melissa Sue Harnisch, both of Belleville.

Mr. Harnisch retired in 1971 from employment with the City of Detroit.

And 'taint just those who've been out of town for awhile; long-time residents are the ones who surprise us with their queries.

The Secretary of State is on Main Street next to Foodville; the police department is located in the Municipal Building at Five Points and the realtors and insurance agents folded their tents and moved to other cities a 1-o-n-g time ago.

We DO share adjoining offices with the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce and if you use the front entrance facing Main Street, you'll find Gary and Carol Sampson's new offices housing their Adventure Travel Service.

Come on in and see us but not to purchase your plates or pay a parking ticket. We're all pretty good at giving directions, though, and spend a lot of time telling people how to find things in the city and outlying areas.

Isn't it nice to see some Belleville business buildings getting a facelift? And how 'bout the two new looks on Main Street — Dr. Troxell's dental clinic and Dr. Mafee's medical center?

Doc T. has rescued the old cleaning establishment from being still another vacant eyesore along the city's main artery and the newly built med building is certainly most welcome (but where's the roof?)

Those Mansard roofs being added (perhaps already finished by this printing) to Hoot's emporium and to Swan's Shoe Repair are lookin' good, fellas!

And, although there's a huge "open soon" sign in the window of the old Rexall store, no one seems to have any answers to just WHAT'S going to "open soon." But, whatever, — the sooner the better to do away with that awful abandoned, don't-care facade.

Bill S.: "Tell me, Father, is it a sin for me to play golf on Sunday?"

Father Skoney: "I've seen you on the course, my son, and it's a sin for you to play any day of the week."

Personal cleanliness was once an extremely time-consuming, ritualistic luxury for the Romans.

With their passion for overindulgence, they even developed intricate techniques for the simple act of bathing and erected extensive buildings to accompany the process.

After undressing, the Roman left his clothes in the "apodyterium." He then was anointed with oil in the "elaesthesium" or "unctorium." Following this, he went to a room or court where he engaged in strenuous exercise.

After the workout he proceeded to the "caldarium" or hot room and the "sudatorium" or "laconicum", a steam room. At this point his body was scraped of its accumulation of oil and perspiration and the bather then went to the warm room, or "tepidarium," and then into the cold bath, or "frigidarium," in which there was frequently a swimming pool. After all that his body was once again anointed and the process was completed.

And we think our KIDS tie up the bathroom!

THE BOTTOM LINE— It is the parent who behaves like a child much of the time who most expects his child to behave like an adult.

G.Sedlacek, S.Melzow married in Owosso

In an afternoon ceremony Aug. 5 at the First United Methodist Church of Owosso, Sally Jane Melzow became the bride of George Francis Sedlacek Jr. The newlyweds later departed for a honeymoon trip to Toronto, Ontario; Niagara Falls and Cedar Point and are now at home at N-5 Washington Court, Mt. Pleasant.

The Rev. Michael Pearson and The Rev. Fr. Francis Williams presided at the four o'clock rite which united the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Leroy W. Melzow of 2448 Timberlane Dr., Owosso, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Sedlacek of 5960 Darb Lake Dr., West Bloomfield, formerly of Romulus.

For her wedding day the bride chose to wear a white qiana gown with a circular chapel train cascading from the softly-flared skirt. A flounce forming a "V" at the front and Alencon lace appliques added interest to the skirt hemline. The little fitted bodice was designed with a high collar of lace over an illusion neckline with lace forming tiny cap sleeves and a sweetheart neckline.

She wore a wide-brimmed picture hat of nylon organza frosted with lace appliques and carried colonially arranged white roses, carnations, baby's breath and blue star flowers. When the couple exchanged rings, the bridegroom slipped the wedding band which had belonged to the bride's maternal grandmother on her finger.

Preceding the bride to the sanctuary were Mary A. Kemp, who came from Campbell, Calif. to be her sister's matron of honor; and a bevy of bridesmaids: Peggy Semple of Ann Arbor and Martha Melzow of Lexington, Ky., both sisters of the bride; Sue Munley of Lansing; Patty Horvath of East Lansing; Patti Ocelnik of Owosso and Kristine Krieg of Grand Haven.

Steven Sedlacek of Wixom served as his brother's best man with Don Ester of Portage; Pat Campbell of Kalamazoo; Nick Krismenich of Armada, and Jim Sedlacek, another brother from West Bloomfield, as groomsmen. Ushers were Stephen R. Semple of Ann Arbor brother-in-law of the bride; and Brian Sedlacek of West Bloomfield, brother of the bridegroom.

The American Legion Hall in Owosso was the setting for the reception which followed. Some 275 relatives and friends were in attendance.

Both young people are in their senior year at Central Michigan University where the new Mrs. Sedlacek is majoring in speech pathology and her husband in public health and health education.

Romulus 'Y' Co-op Nursery readies for fall semester

The Romulus YWCA Co-op Nursery will be open for the fall session on Sept. 18. The nursery meets at the Community United Methodist Church on Olive Street, Romulus.

The program is based on that of a cooperative-type nursery where mothers help the teacher one day each month per child. Monday and Wednesdays will accommodate the 4-year-olds while 3-year-olds will attend on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The first semester will run Sept. 18 through Dec. 21. The second semester will take place Jan. 2 through May 31. Tuition for the first session is $45 and is to be paid by Nov. 8. Second semester tuition, to be paid by March 8, is $40.

Mothers also need to be members of the YWCA which has an annual membership dues of $6.

The nursery program is a well-rounded one dealing with the child's physical, emotional and intellectual growth. Some of the goals of the nursery are:

1. To develop in each child curiosity, awareness and an understanding of the world around him.

2. To enable each child to express himself creatively and constructively.

3. To help the child learn how to get along well with other children and adults.

It is also a great learning experience for parents while working in the daily program.

This past year the nursery made several field trips including the Detroit Science Center, Oakwoods Nature Center and the Sugar Bush Farms.

Orientation is Sept. 6 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Community United Methodist Church.

For further information, please call the nursery chairperson, Kim Linton, at 941-0067 or the YWCA at 561-4110.

Burwell-LeMieux wed

Nassau honeymoon follows nuptial mass and reception

Bouquets of yellow and white carnations graced the altar of St. Anthony's Catholic Church Aug. 5 as Joy Ann Le Mieux of Ypsilanti and Michael Richard Burwell of Belleville exchanged marriage vows and wedding bands.

The Rev. Raymond Skoney celebrated the two thirty o'clock nuptial mass with some 375 guests in attendance. Rita Clark was at the organ to accompany the vocalist, Monica Stovall.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ford W. Le Mieux of Alpena and Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Burwell of Harmony Lane, Belleville.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, the bride appeared in a toe-touching creation of white chiffon over double satin, the little fitted bodice being designed of lace with a high neckline and accordion pleated angel wing sleeves.

A floor-length veil of bridal illusion drifted from a white picture hat while a presentation bouquet of white long-stemmed roses completed her bridal finery.

As her sister's honor attendant, Linda Lee of Alpena donned a yellow qiana knit gown fashioned with a cowl neckline and a matching picture hat embellished with frothy veiling. Her bouquet was comprised of yellow baby roses and baby's breath.

Wearing identical fashions were the two bridesmaids, Linda Adkin of London, Ont. and Linda Burwell, the bridegroom's sister of Belleville.

Completing the bridal coterie were the best man, Steven Burwell of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Berge of Southfield and Peter Stilson of Troy, both fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

Between the ceremony and dinner-dance at Roma's of Ann Arbor, the bridegroom's parents hosted a cocktail party on their patio overlooking Belleville Lake. Some 200 out-of-town guests were present from New Jersey, Missouri, New York and Ohio as well as from the bride's home city, Alpena.

Mint green chiffon over taffeta was the choice of Mrs. Le Mieux for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Burwell chose to wear a blue qiana knit halter dress with a full-length chiffon cape.

Since returning from a 2-weeks honeymoon on Paradise Island, Nassau, the newlyweds have made their home in Ypsilanti.

Currently working as a secretary for the Ford Motor Company in Ypsilanti, the new Mrs. Burwell graduated from Alpena High School and Eastern Michigan University where she earned her business degree. Her husband, a Belleville High School alumnus, also holds a business degree from EMU and is self-employed at Burwell Enterprises of Melvindale.

The Richard Burwells played host at the rehearsal dinner which was held at Woodstone Inn of Belleville.

Carver, Bouchillon are wed

Paula Bouchillon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Gray of 47150 Denton Rd., Belleville, and LeRoy Carver, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carver of 127 Carmell, Belleville, exchanged wedding vows July 22 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

The Rev. Joy Arthur presided at the two o'clock rite before some 30 close friends and relatives. For the occasion a bouquet of pink and yellow carnations, white daisies and baby's breath graced the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a formal length white eyelet dress designed with a scoop neckline, empire waistline and sleeveless bodice. A white wide-brimmed hat accented with white silk ribbon and a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath completed her ensemble.

The bridegroom's sister, Burma Wertz of Belleville, was honor attendant in a long beige dress fashioned with a V neckline and cape sleeves. She, too, wore a picture hat, only in beige to match her gown.

Young attendants at the wedding were the couple's children from previous marriages: 8-year-old Mari Carver; 6-year-old Cherry Carver and 4-year-old Howard Carver and Lisa, nine; Lora, eight and Robert, four, the Bouchillon trio. They carried out the roles of flower girls and ringbearers. The young ladies wore short, multi-colored sundresses and white picture hats and carried wicker baskets filled with roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Dave Morningstar of Wayne served as best man and ushers were James and David Wertz of Belleville, nephews of the bridegroom.

The VFW Hall in Romulus was reserved for the reception which followed. The 100 guests were greeted by the bride's mother in a long-sleeved multi-colored floral print and the bridegroom's mother in a floral scoop necked gown in multi-hues. Both were presented with corsages of gardenias and baby's breath.

The 13th annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon will be broadcast on Sunday, beginning one half hour earlier this year at 8:30 p.m., and continuing through to 6:30 p.m. Sept. 4.

Held to benefit the research and patient service programs of the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA), the marathon TV spectacular, originating from Del Webb's Hotel Sahara in Las Vegas, will be carried by a coast-to-coast "Love Network" of more than 200 TV stations and will span an area of more than 1,000 miles, from Guam to Puerto Rico and also Hawaii and Alaska. This is a record network for a single televised humanitarian fund-raising effort.

For the fourth successive year the Labor Day Telethon will be broadcast by WJBK-TV, Channel 2. Joe Glover, popular TV-2 news anchorman, is honorary chairman of the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of MDA for the second consecutive year and once again will handle the job of hosting the local segments, approximately 15 minutes of each hour. Joining him will be other TV-2 hosts including Robbie Timmons, Vic Caputo, Ray Lane, Woody Willis, Charlie Neal and the hosts of TV-2's new program, "P.M. Magazine." Lorrie Kapp and Ron Sanders. Special local guests will include J.P. McCarthy, Bill Boni, Puritan and Sonny Jerry Lewis has set a goal for his 1978 Telethon. He is determined to surpass the achievement of the 1977 Telethon which raised a record-breaking $26.8-million to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

This year's telethon promises to be the most "star-filled" show in the telethon's history. The superstars who will join Jerry Lewis include Sammy Davis Jr., T. Bennett, Cheryl Ladd, David Hartman, Mike Douglas and Dionne Warwick. Lewis' anchorman for the sixth consecutive year will be Ed McMahon.

Additional commitments by some of the more than five dozen stars who have now confirmed their availability include John and Patty Duke, Astin, Virginia Capers, Vikki Carr, Ray Charles, Sandy Duncan, at Michigan and Greenfield. As little as $9 covers theater tickets for all four performances plus a light luncheon each day.

The new series debuts on Oct. 19 with the San Francisco Ballet and orchestra, followed by the Martha Graham Dance Company on Nov. 30, the Joyce Trisler Dancecompany on Jan. 25 and the Paul Taylor Dance Company on Feb. 22.

All performances begin at 1 p.m. with a light luncheon being served to season ticket buyers only at 11:45 p.m. Most performances will be concluded by 3 p.m. Direct round-trip SEMTA bus service can be arranged by calling 962-9800, ext. 246. Buses will leave the Greenfield and Michigan location at 11:15 a.m. and a fee of $10 guarantees a seat on all four dates.

Season tickets can be purchased by calling 963-6943. Tickets are also available at the Music Hall Season Ticket office at 350 Madison Avenue in downtown Detroit. Those interested in going as a group can call Joan Heidt at 963-7622.

'Star cruise' to be Friday

A "Star Cruise" will take place aboard the Island Queen excursion boat at Kensington Metropark near Milford on Sept. 1 at 9 p.m.

A clear, crisp September evening is an excellent time to view the stars. Many summer constellations still are visible, even though they are slowly being replaced by those of the autumn season. Naturalist Steve Horn will be on board to identify star groups and talk about the myths and legends about them.

The boat will leave promptly at 9 p.m. from the boat rental building, located next to Maple Beach. There is a charge of $2 per person and advance registration is required. Vehicle entry permits also are required.

For information or registration contact the nature center at Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford).

Fifty color photographs taken in wilderness areas of the United States by photographer Michael Catlin will be on display in the lobby of the Eastern Michigan University Center of Educational Resources Sept. 6-29.

The exhibit, titled "Turn of a Leaf: Vanishing 'Miracle,'" is part of a larger study that was funded jointly by a grant from the "Environment and Man Program" at Utah State University and by the Rockefeller Foundation.

Catlin, who is convinced that the visual source of communication (photographs) is very often neglected, decided to record parts of the wilderness through his photographs. His EMU exhibition is only a part of the hundreds of photographs he took during his study.

Catlin, an ardent conservationist, studied at the University of Montana, Santa Barbara City College and earned his master of arts degree in fine arts at Utah State University.

Before receiving his grant for "A Photographic Study of the Aesthetic Value of the Wilderness Environment," Catlin had experience in commercial photography, motion pictures, news photography, teaching and creative photography.

The wilderness photographs will be on display during regular library hours. The exhibit is free to the public.

FFBEAT Michigan

Mills and covered bridges in Michigan recall a bygone era when water provided the power to work giant grindstones, saws and other machinery and horses were the main means of transportation. While some bridges still carry light vehicles, other spans cater to foot traffic only. Restored mills now house a restaurant, a theater and three community centers while others still use water to grind flour or press cider.

Motorcycles are hard to see on roads especially at dusk. Be alert and always signal whenever changing lanes or making turns.

Mills and covered bridges recall Michigan's history

(Note: "Mills and Covered Bridges" is the 13th in a series of 15 weekly articles on "Offbeat Michigan." These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and near-home travel.

The creaking sound of waterwheels and the echo of horses' hooves against hand-hewn timbers still can be heard in Michigan's mills and covered bridges.

Products from livestock feed to tangy apple cider continue to be produced by mills scattered throughout Lower Michigan while a few have been converted to other uses, including a theater and a restaurant.

Although more than a century old, some of the covered bridges listed by Auto Club still carry light vehicles. Others have only recently been built as part of parks, picnic areas and resorts.

The tiny community of Ada near Grand Rapids is home of the 125-foot Ada Bridge, which in 1867 was the first to span the Thornapple River. It now is open to foot traffic only.

Visitors to Fallasburg Bridge Park north of Lowell will see a 100-foot structure built in 1871 across the Flat River.

And, just two miles north, a roadside table near White's Bridge is a favorite stop for picnickers and photography buffs. The 116-foot span was built with wooden pegs and hand-cut nails in 1869 and carries auto traffic across the Flat River.

At 282 feet, Langley Bridge on the St. Joseph River near Centerville is the state's longest covered span. Constructed in 1887, it, too, can be driven by auto and seen from a nearby riverside park.

Those wishing to photograph the 46-year-old Morris Bridge, a 40-foot-long structure on private property near Niles, must call (616-683-3329) a week in advance.

Five other bridges are of more recent construction. Newest is at Bay Valley Inn near Bay City. Until 1972, when sides and roof were installed, the 72-foot structure was a railroad bridge.

Alpena County's 60-foot-long Fletcher Park Bridge near Long Rapids was built in 1968 with hemlock timbers from the park's own groves.

Tourists can fee goats, deer and elephants and see other animals at King's Animaland near Richmond in Southeast Michigan, where a 20-foot covered bridge was built over the Salt River in 1965.

Reserved for golfers, the covered bridge on Detroit's Belle Isle Golf Course can be seen from the island's Oakwood Drive. The 70-foot span was built in 1913 of wood and concrete.

The only covered structure not original to Michigan is the 146-year-old Ackley Bridge in Dearborn's Greenfield Village. Moved from Pennsylvania in 1937, it is used by the village's horse-drawn carriages as well as persons on foot.

The village also is home of what may be the oldest mill in America. The Cape Cod Windmill, moved there in 1936, was built in the early-to mid-1600s and is one of a dozen mills on display.

The oldest state business of its original site is Manchester's E.G. Mann & Sons Feed Mill (313-428-7077). Tours of this water-powered mill must be arranged in advance.

Holland's Windmill Island is the site of a 200-year-old Dutch windmill still grinding flour that visitors may purchase.

In fall, tangy apple cider is enjoyed by visitors to several water-driven mills. Two are in Rochester and Parshallville.

In Rochester, the historic Clihton-Kalamazoo Canal is carried over the Yates Cider Mill (313-651-8300) by a picturesque wooden flume.

Power for cider making at Tom Walker's Grist Mill (313-629-9079) near Parshallville comes from a turbine turned by water from Ore Creek.

Anglers can fish for trout alongside another Rochester-area mill, the Paint Creek Cider Mill (313-651-8361).

Other mills have been saved from the wrecking ball and are now serving a variety of other purposes.

A 90-year-old four and grist mill at Homer now is home of True Grist Ltd. Dinner Theatre (517-568-4151). In Rockford, a mill more than 100 years old has become the Old Mill Restaurant (616-866-4306) in that city's restored Squires Street Square.

Three mills at Milan, Dundee and Tecumseh formerly were owned by auto pioneer Henry Ford and now are community centers used for meetings and senior citizen programs. The mill's waterwheel remains at Tecumseh while only the millraces are left at Milan and Dundee.

A waterwheel adorning the Ford Motor Co's Northville Valve Plant formerly powered office lighting. Although no tours are offered, visitors can feed ducks at the plant millpond.

Two mills presently under restoration can be visited at the Wolf Lake State Fish Hatchery (616-668-2147) near Mattawan and in Flint's Historical Crossroads Village (313-785-7803). Both projects should be completed in two years.

Accessibility: Act opens up government

(This is one in a series of public service articles explaining, in general terms, a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their legal affairs should consult with a private attorney.)

By ATT. GEN. FRANK J. KELLEY

"Committing" someone to a mental hospital isn't generally a topic of conversation until it affects someone close to us.

But as a subject of today's "Know Your Michigan Law," it's appropriate to review the safeguards established in the 1974 Mental Health Code to guard against arbitrary or unnecessary commitment in any of the state's mental hospitals.

There are two ways in which an adult can be admitted to a mental hospital, voluntarily and involuntarily.

For voluntary admissions, the person simply requests that the hospital accept him or her for treatment and medical personnel determine that the person would legitimately benefit from inpatient treatment.

Firm can approve GI loans

Ann Arbor Mortgage Corp of Westland and Ann Arbor has been approved by the Veterans Administration to "automatically" close GI home loans without having to obtain prior VA approval, according to C.W. Adams, VA and FHA specialist with the corporation.

"This approval was granted to us because of our strict loan underwriting procedures and because of our having successfully closed more than 500 VA-guaranteed mortgages. This will allow us to more expeditiously serve homebuying veterans and sellers served by the Realtors of the United Northwestern Realty Association, the Ypsilanti Board of Realtors, and the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors, who are responsible for 90 percent of the business processed by our corporation," Adams said.

Ann Arbor Mortgage Corporation is a FHA- and VA-approved home lender, founded in Westland in 1964 and currently servicing $55,000,000 of mortgages for investors throughout the United States.

"It is probable that veterans who have served in any war are eligible to purchase a home with a no-money down, Veterans Administration-guaranteed mortgage up to $70,000, and we can assist veterans to obtain home loans as high as $100,000 with only a modest down payment. In addition, we feel VA mortgages are the best homebuying vehicle available today," Adams added.

Involuntary commitment requires the services of probate court. Someone with firsthand knowledge which might indicate that a person is mentally ill must first file a petition with the court or apply directly to a mental hospital asking for the involuntary hospitalization of the other person.

The petition must state why the person is believed to be mentally disturbed and a doctor's certificate must concur that the person is in need of treatment.

The court or hospital then can order psychiatric examination to determine or verify some disorder. Once a person is deemed to have some mental or emotional disorder, the court can call a hearing to determine if the person should be committed.

A person who is the subject of an involuntary hospitalization attempt has many rights under Michigan's laws. He or she is entitled to:

- Copies of the admission petition and the physician's certificates to help prepare a defense.
- Services of an attorney, paid for by the county, if necessary.
- Trial by jury, with the subject present.
- An independent examination by a physician.

It is important to note that being mentally ill is not enough to require that a person be hospitalized involuntarily. A person can be involuntarily hospitalized only if — in addition to being mentally ill — one of two conditions be established — first, there is reason to believe the person will harm someone in the near future, and second, there is reason to believe he or she is unable to attend to basic physical needs, such as food, clothing, or shelter.

If the person was admitted as a voluntary patient, he or she is free to terminate their stay at any time. But if they have been involuntarily committed to the mental hospital by the court, it is up to the hospital staff to decide when to release the patient.

Get off your rocker. Don't take old age sitting down.

About exploration

Space Center answers all your questions

Anything you ever wanted to know about space exploration —and more— will be found in the public exhibits and displays at the Michigan Space Center, located near Jackson.

Nestled at the southeast corner of Jackson Community College in a near-perfect sylvan setting, the center is marked by a Redstone rocket standing as a sentinel before the main building.

Visitors entering the center are greeted in the reception area and then easily find their way to an entrance which takes them through the Transition Tunnel to the main display area. The center of interest here is the original Apollo 9 which was returned to a safe splashdown after orbiting the earth. Through windows of the spacecraft visitors can look into the lighted interior to see mannequins placed in the same positions the astronauts assumed in their trips outside the earth's atmosphere.

The domed ceiling of the center structure is composed of ground and recycled newsprint, under which is suspended an actual parachute that brought one of the earlier space capsules back to earth. Other one of a kind exhibits include a mockup of Mariner IV, the original of which flew around the planet Mars. A full-scale mockup of Surveyor III also is on display and is an exact, detailed replica of the vehicle used in exploring the moon and left there.

The self-guided tour takes the visitors past lighted panels where spacesuits are on display, worn by James McDivett of the Apollo mission, the Gemini mission spacesuit worn by Jack Lovell and Deke Slayton's spacesuit from the Mercury mission.

Also on display is the Chimpanzee capsule, the Gemini trainer, an exhibit of food used by the astronauts in space and a display of the Russian spacecraft Soyuz link-up with the Apollo. Television sets placed conveniently throughout the tour show continuous films of the actual telecast during the moon exploration, Astronaut Ed White's walk in space and the Apollo liftoff.

The Astro Theatre, at the end of the tour, features a triple-screen presentation of space exploration in the auditorium which seats 80 persons.

The center opened in May 1977 at a structural cost of more than $750,000. The value of the exhibits, however, far surpasses that figure.

Space Center Director Charles E. Gass said some of the exhibits are on a loan cycle, so the exhibits will be changing from time to time and other new exhibits will be added. He pointed out that the center also serves to honor those Jackson and Michigan astronauts who were pioneers in the nation's space program. Alfred Worden and James McDivett were born in Jackson; Alan Bean was a resident of Jackson for some time and Jack Lousma's father, Jacob, still lives in Jackson. The other Michigan astronaut, Roger Chaffee of Grand Rapids, lost his life in a tragic fire at a rocket launch site.

Fantastic year

Members of the Canton Township-based Masters Of Dance Arts Company had another fantastic year, after winning a first place title in the North American Pageant Systems in Indiana. Nationally, they have travelled to Ohio, Indiana, New York and California, as well as perform on television on several occasions. Members of the highly acclaimed dance troupe are Kathy Brandt (top

Three women attend church's conference

Three members of the Middlebelt Baptist Church of Inkster recently attended the Women's Missionary Auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention at the Ridgcrest Baptist Conference Center in Ridgcrest, N.C.

Attending were Mrs. Carolyn J. Martin, wife of Pastor C. E. Martin, Mrs. Harriet Harp, first vice-president of the Women's Missionary Union, and Mrs. Kay Minks, Sunday School superintendent.

The national mission strategy, under the theme of "Bold Mission Thrust", has emerged from the Home Mission Board to lead Southern Baptists to evangelize and to congregationalize in the United States through 1980, the women reported.

"Bold Mission Thrust" offers unparalleled challenge in attempting to focus on metropolitan missions to starting new congregations, from interfaith witness to work with the National Baptists, from mass evangelism to associational administration, from personal evangelism to language missions and from Christian social ministries to rural-urban missions, the women added.

To give every person a chance to hear the "Good News" and to belong to a fellowship of believers making up a church body of Christ is biblical and bold, they added.

The trio attended several workshops at the convention, including those on WMU directors, Church Mission Friends, Mission Action, Mission Support, Missions in the New England States, Puppet Ministry, how to make and use teaching aids and pastor's wives.

Mission conferences featured missionaries from Switzerland, Guatemala, Brazil, Kenya, Antigua and the states of Alabama, California and Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Martin also was invited to attend a briefing session, entitled "Let's Talk: Cooperative Ministries with National Baptists and Southern Baptists", spearheaded by Dr. Sidney Smith, Arnette Smith of California and Margaret Perkins of Birmingham, Ala.

VA aids students with bill

A college education is expensive, time consuming and requires a tremendous amount of effort, but the Veterans Administration hopes to provide some of the incentives for veterans seeking an education. Frank Kilcullen, VA regional office director in Detroit urges veterans to inquire about the many benefits available to help them with their education.

Aid in the form of a $311 check each month will help in paying some of the cost of going to college, and this is what the VA provides each month for a single veteran. More is available, if the veteran has dependents.

Kilcullen said there also is a student loan program which makes amounts up to $2,500 a year available to eligible veterans, and these loans are not to be repaid until after graduation.

In addition to these programs the VA has a work-study program in which a veteran can draw $2.65 an hour for up to 750 hours during the fiscal year.

Money is not always the problem, Kilcullen said. If the veteran is in a quandry about what course of study to pursue, counselors at the VA will help direct him in his selection.

Full information is available from the VA, campus veteran advisors, schools and colleges and veterans service organization representatives.

Burghuff reigns as 'A' city champ

Hof-Brau rally falls short, 15-13

Schoolboy champ

Though he is about to enter his junior year at Belleville High School, 16-year-old Rick Winekoff is well on his way to establishing himself as one of the finest young wrestlers in the world. Rick proved that point recently when he competed in and won the 160 1/4-pound class gold medal at the World Schoolboy Wrestling Championships held in New Mexico. Rick also has served notice that he will be a tough contender for the state championship when the state finals roll around next fall.

Despite a brave last inning attempt by challenger Hof-Brau, Burghuff held on to win the Wayne Parks and Recreation's Class A City Softball Championship last week.

Hof rallied for five runs in the top of the seventh but fell two runs short to tie the game and possibly send the duel into an over time.

Burghuff held what appeared to be a comfortable five-run lead (10-5) after five innings, and scored four times in the bottom of the sixth, giving it a 15-8 cushion over its arch-rivals, however, the losers got the winning pitcher for five runs in the last inning to make it look close.

Davidson, who served up 13 hits, including a pair of circuit clouts to Jerry Holbrook, helped his cause along with a double, two singles and three runs batted in. Corky Hays contributed a roundtripper and three singles to the champ's cause.

Larry Quartuccio collected three singles for the losers who sent Dennis Cowell to the mound in the finale in hopes of silencing Burghuff's bats.

Cowell gave up a total of 20 hits. The victory avenged an earlier 25-22 loss to Hof-Brau. The champs wasted an excellent hitting performance by Dean Minton who hit for the cycle off of winning pitcher Cowell. Cowell also gave up 25 hits, including three hits to Gary Pierce who also homered. Dave Seaman laced two singles and a triple and Mike Plagens had three singles which helped drive in four runs.

Burghuff used three hurlers - Bob Jaskolski, Corky Hays and Hawk Davidson in hopes of stopping their rivals who broke loose from a 6-5 first inning deficit to a 16-6 and 21-6 lead after two and three innings, respectively. Burghuff came alive in the late innings, tilting the scoreboards for six runs in the fifth and scoring seven times in the sixth, but they caught up after the slow start.

Cowell, the winning pitcher, helped his cause with four singles and two RBIs and Jim Schewe chipped in with five hits, including two doubles. Jerry Holbrook homered and had two other hits for four RBIs and Gary Schewe contributed a triple and two singles.

The Broncos outthit Hof 16-11, but lost a close encounter, 9-8. The losers had their chance in the bottom of the seventh when they scored four runs, but couldn't come up with the neutralizer. Cowell was tagged for the 16-hits, giving up a homer, two singles and three RBIs to Don Canfield. Chris Drake, Gary Tilson, Jack McCaffrey and Monty Gobel each had two hits for the losers. Jim Vergona, charged with the loss, delivered a three-run homer to Jim Hubbs who also had a single and five runs batted in for the evening. Gary Schewe collected three singles, while Steve Reitz and Quartuccio split four hits between them.

A memorial race for Wayne cyclist

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Steve Foster loved to ride motorcycles.

But, unlike most teenagers, the 19-year-old Wayneite confined his driving to the professional tracks, hoping some day to hit it big.

Foster earned his niche of acclaim and, despite his age, developed into one of the finer professional drivers in his class. In fact, the Wayne Memorial graduate became the high point man at E-Z Rider for the past four years.

But death cut Steve's career short.

STEVE FOSTER

While competing in a professional cycle race near Chicago on Aug. 11, Foster was involved in a crash which claimed his young life.

"Steve was a very personable, likeable individual," said Jim White. "The tragedy of his death will be remembered for a long time."

White had called yesterday to inform us that there will be a memorial race to pay tribute to the young driver. Larry Williams, the owner of E-Z Rider Raceway in Milan, Michigan has set aside Labor Day, Sept. 4 as Steve Foster Memorial Day.

There will be a short-track race in Steve's honor.

The special memorial race will feature both professional and amateur racers. The practice starts will begin at 2 p.m., and racing will begin at 4 p.m.

E-Z Rider Raceway is located on Plank Road, 4 miles southeast of Milan, next to Milan Dragway.

It isn't for us to say why one life is cut short, while others are extended - the answer, if revealed would surely solve some of the mysteries of our universe, but how many of us will be able to depart doing what we love the best?

Riding the waves

Another youngster who is eyeing a professional career, but in water skiing is 12-year-old Marty Steinhauer, son of Jerry and Judi Steinhauer of Wayne.

Marty competed in the National Water Skiing Championships in the junior boys' division (12 and under) and placed second to California's Billy Allen.

"I was really happy with my performance," said Marty who has been water skiing for the past seven years, five of those in competition. "I won a huge silver bowl."

Marty's second place over-all was obtained by finishing third in the jumping competition, fifth in slalom and sixth in tricks.

Last year at Berkeley, Calif., the young athlete captured fourth in jumping.

Marty has taken some bad spills, but it hasn't stopped him from his goal "of someday turning professional."

"I have had some bad spills - you got to expect that, but I just love it."

Following in the footsteps - or is it waves? - of his brother, Phillip, who, at 18, also competes in the men's division, Marty will move up a notch next year. He'll be competing with 13 through 17-year-olds, "and it's going to be really tough."

The Steinhauers can form their own team of water skiers as three others - Kyrstn, 15, David, 11, who was eighth nationally in slalom, and Mack, 9, also ski.

"I am proud of our kids," said Mrs. Steinhauer who, along with husband, Jerry, graduated from Wayne Memorial. "Yes, I get frightened when they take those spills, but they seem to be in control of themselves all the time."

Jerry, who is a partner with Dale A. Weston in the Professional Insurance Associates in Wayne, pointed out that it was one sport where you have to keep your poise.

"Our kids just love to water ski and that's one of the reasons why we have a cottage on a lake," he said.

JOHN RIDDLE

Nice way to spend a vacation

John Riddle took his family up to Traverse City a couple of weeks ago for a vacation in that resort-city.

Riddle, a Wayne resident, says he'll never forget that trip.

The reason why the journey North was an auspicious one for Riddle was that he managed to card his first "hole-in-one". Golfing with father-in-law, Jim Tennant, and a couple of other vacationers, Riddle aced the 140-yard No. 16-Hole (near 3) at Sugar Loaf Golf Course.

"I'll never forget it," says Riddle who refused to reveal what he finished up with for the round. "I really couldn't play after that."

Riddle, a golfer for five years, has competed in the past four City Championship Golf Tournaments. It was his first ace.

Studio Lounge stays perfect

Though they managed to outthit the champs, J & D Auto didn't get the 'key hits' in their rematch with Studio Lounge, the reigning Westland Parks and Recreation women's softball queens.

J & D had an opportunity to avenge its regular season loss to the powerhouse, but lost during the playoffs, 10-4 as Jan Harstead played havoc with J & D pitcher, Shelly Arner.

Harstead drilled a pair of roundtrippers and laced three singles to pace Studio's 14-hit assault on Arner. Rita Woods and Liz Oucarak also latched on to three hits, one of Oucarak's going for a homer.

At Inkster Arena

WHA sets hockey tryouts

With the hockey season just around the corner, the Westland Hockey Association is seeking qualified skaters for its travel teams.

During the next two weeks, skaters in various age groups will have an opportunity to try out for the teams, according to Larry Lebest, president of the WHA.

The tryouts will be staged at Inkster Arena, beginning Sept. 5. The mites will kick off the tryouts when they take to the ice at 6 p.m. Then, the squirts (7 p.m.), pee wees (8 p.m.), and bantams (9 p.m.) are scheduled to skate.

On Thurs., Sept. 7, the tryouts will begin at 6 p.m. (mites), and then it's the squirts (7 p.m.), pee wees (8 p.m.) and bantams (9 p.m.).

teams and a championship game is played to climax the season.

Added to this year's awards' presentation will be the special feature. Certificates of appreciation will be presented to the members of the Tri-City Suns, from the Tri-City Therapeutic Recreation Program, Garden City-Wayne-Westland and the Western Wayne Tigers of the Western Wayne County Association of the Retarded, Inkster.

Following the awards presentations, the Suns and the Tigers will take to the field. Both teams participated in the Wayne County Slow-Pitch Softball League for the Mentally Impaired Adults, ages 18 and over. The league is made up of six teams and they play a 10-game schedule and finish up with a banquet in September.

For information on the banquet, fans are urged to telephone 261-7030.

The Suns are coached by Mike Mushett and will bring an 8-2 record into Thursday night's encounter. They finished second in the league, while Coach Tom Duff's Tigers wrapped up the regular campaign with a 6-4 record and the only team to defeat the league champs.

East High Lighted Field is located behind Garden City East High School on Maplewood and Hartel Streets. There is no charge for admission and further information about the program may be obtained by phoning 261-3490, 261-3491 or 422-7063.

The mites, squirts, pee wees and bantams also will skate from 6 p.m., 7 p.m., 8 p.m., and 9 p.m., respectively, on Friday, Sept. 8 and on Sat., Sept. 9 the Squirts (1 p.m.), pee wees (2 p.m.), mites (3 p.m.), bantams (4 and 5 p.m.) wrap up the tryout phase of the season.

The midget and junior registration and "B" tryouts will be conducted at Jaycees' Arena on Monday, Sept. 18. The schedule is: mites at 6 p.m., followed by squirts (7 p.m.), pee wees (8 p.m.), bantams (9 p.m.), and midgets and juniors at 10 p.m.

Further information about the tryouts and the league may be obtained by telephoning Lebest at 274-6504.

Trudy Naberko, Peggy McMahon and Carol Mull each had two hits for the losers who received 14-hit pitching from Sheryl Shaffer.

A six-run fourth and a five-run fifth lifted J & D past Johnny's, 11-3, in their final encounter of the 1978 season.

Shaffer got two hits and was charged with the loss. Karen Austin drilled a homer and Carol Mull had a single for the losers.

Winning pitcher Judy Cousineau was backed up by Donna Thompson's superb hitting. Ms. Thompson hammered a homer, triple and two singles and drove in three runs. Debbie Junk chipped in three singles as did Sue Dubke.

Jackie Randall belted three singles off of winning pitcher Sharon Turflinger, while Heather Domke singled and doubled. Maureen McIntosh drilled a homer and singled for the losers.

A 5-run top of the seventh VFW Bova Post rally failed to stop the undefeated Studio Lounge team earlier in the playoffs. After exchanging two runs with Bova Post in the first inning, Studio streaked to a 12-7 victory.

Turflinger, again credited with the victory, gave up 12 hits, including a double and three singles to Rhonda Dreher. Mary Brown and Marilyn Valuet split four hits.

Loser Sheryl Chomiuk was tagged for a homer, three singles and five RBIs by Maureen McIntosh while teammate Jim Barrick also homered. Lynn Kort turned in with two hits.

J & D Auto erased Johnny Shell's, beating its rivals 12-6 the day after it had won a 11-3 verdict over their foes.

Johnny's took a 2-1 lead in the first inning before J & D exploded for four runs in the third and put the 12-6 victory out of reach with a five-run surge in the sixth.

Winning hurler Judy Cousineau helped her cause with two hits — both singles — and scored two runs, while Nan Hewson helped out with a pair of circuit clouts and three RBIs. Donna Thompson helped out with a pair of singles.

For Van Buren playoff title

It's Rogalle's vs. Caesar's

Ousting Vigo's with two consecutive victories, league champ Rogalle's goes after Little Caesar's and their second straight Van Buren Township title this week.

While Rogalle's was busy dumping Vigo's 8-4 and 7-2 in the best-of-three softball playoffs, Little Caesar's qualified for the championship series by beating PLAV 16-8 and 12-5.

The championship round was scheduled to begin Monday at the township diamonds located behind the township hall, 46425 Tyler Road.

In the opening round, Rogalle's erupted for four runs in the first inning on four hits and went on to beat Vigo's 7-2 behind Glenn Davis' seven-hitter. Jerry Memering paced the champs' hitting assault as he hammered a triple and two singles to drive in three runs.

Rogalle's Bob Johnson chipped in four hits, lacing a double and pair of singles while Larry Fix' contribution to the winning cause include a couple of singles.

Davis had his problems with Tom Spangles who singled and doubled while Bies also checked in with a pair of singles.

The following night, Vigo's blew a 4-1 third inning lead and was eliminated from the playoffs. Rogalle's scored in the first inning, but Vigo tied it up in its second and went ahead with a three-run burst in the third. Rogalle's got those runs back in the fourth and scored for unanswered runs in the fifth.

Davis again received credit for the victory, while Payne was the loser. Payne gave up a roundtripper and a single to Dapsi while Spangler drove in a pair of runs with a double and both Coleman and Orzel had run-scoring singles.

Farr had three hits, while Sheldon, Ivan, Sheldon each had two and Vance drilled a homer.

Caesar's made its pitch for the playoff championship by destroying PLAV in the opening round 12-5. Caesar's Dave Szyndlar homered, picked up two doubles and a single. Byrd also belted a roundtripper and latched on to two singles while Boone had four hits, including a double and Gentle had a single, double and triple, (missing the cycle by a homer) for the winners.

Dale Guenther socked three hits for the losers and Ed Grelinski had two. Bob Frost, the losing pitcher, drilled a run-scoring single.

PLAV blew a 9-2 lead in the rematch as Caesar's exploded for 10 runs in the bottom of the sixth to win 16-8 and move on into the finals. Bob Frost was again charged with the loss. He got four hits, but gave up 19 - the same number as his winning counterpart, Jim Wingrove. Gielinski checked in with three singles, while Barry Frost had a single and a homer. Al Fensch finished the season with a pair of singles.

Annapolis wins Class C softball playoffs

Champs sweep 2 from Michigan Bell for title

Chad Baldwin's two-run homer and Dave Wolf's run-scoring double lifted Annapolis to a 11-8 victory over Michigan Bell in the second game of the playoffs.

The victory, coming on the wake of a 15-12 Annapolis triumph over Michigan Bell a day earlier, gave the winners the playoff championship and their second title of the season. Annapolis had earlier won the Class C League Championship.

In the nightcap, Annapolis scored four runs in the first inning and built up a 6-1 lead after two innings before Michigan Bell struck back with four runs in the bottom of the sixth and two more in the seventh to close the gap.

Blue Billing survived an 18-hit Michigan Bell attack to get credit for the victory. His teammates supported him with 15 hits, including Baldwin's two homers and five runs batted in.

Dave Wolfe finished the night with three hits, including a double, while Jerry Luster singled and doubled for the winner.

Fred Bruzell homered while Joe Hoy and Ron Solkeld split four hits between them.

In the earlier encounter between the two playoff finalists, Michigan Bell held a 6-2 lead but just couldn't hang on as Twin Nelson and Wolfe each drilled three hits and drove in two runs apiece off of loser Rick Fontaine. Billig helped his own cause with a triple and single, while Mike Renick chipped in a single and double.

Ron Salkeld had a triple and a single, Fontaine stroked a pair of singles and a double while Hoy checked in with a couple of hits for the losers.

In other playoff matchups, Michigan Bell scored nine runs in the final two innings and went on to defeat the Bruins 17-7 behind Joe Cooley's 10-hit pitching performance. Brent Reed, Clarence Berent, Scott Brown and Bob Ortiz each had three hits while Ortiz missed hitting for the cycle off of loser, Doug Moffett, when he failed to homer.

Cooley gave up a two-run homer to Ty Jennings and two hits apiece to Dale Bullock and Denny McClain. Annapolis started the playoffs with an abbreviated 8-3 victory over Century 21. The game was called after three innings because of a rowdy Century 21 player.

The Bruins' hopes of a playoff title ended when Annapolis knocked them off, 18-12.

DAN QUINN

Tartars rely on All-Area talent

Though graduation wiped out 20 seniors, they're not selling Wayne State University's football machine short this season.

For two good reasons: Dan Quinn and Mark Grabowski, two former All-Area gridders who prepped at Livonia Franklin and Westland John Glenn, respectively.

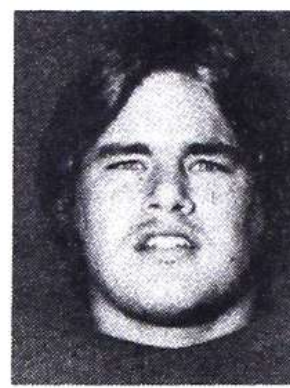

Quinn, according to head football coach Dick Lowry, "could possibly be the most valuable all-around back in the conference during this his senior year."

"He is an outstanding all-purpose back who runs, blocks, returns punts and kick-offs and also figures into the Tartars' passing game."

Quinn, who played opposite of Grabowski during their high school careers, knows just how tough Mark can be. Grabowski became an outstanding defensive tackle candidate with strong performances in spring scrimmages. The 6-1, 200 pound all-around athlete is exceptionally tough under pressure.

The Tartars' No. 1 problem area this season is depth. WSU will be young with only five seniors on this year's roster. The defensive secondary will have to be revamped after the loss of all-time pass interceptor, Terry Rusin, cornerback Bob LaParla and strong safety, Gerry Megenty.

Last year's most improved player, Terry Johnson, a John Glenn alumnus, will be switched to strong safety to patch up that spot.

MARK GRABOWSKI

Westland Jaycees capture District softball title

Ron Zuber's two home runs lifted the Westland Jaycees to a narrow 9-8 victory over Garden City in the championship round of the District K-2 softball tournament.

Zuber, who knocked in three runs in the decisive game, helped pitcher Bob Alves over some rough spots. Alves got credit for the key victory, while he also aided his cause with a pair of hits. Bob Bailey chipped in two hits for the winners.

The Westlanders erased a third inning Garden City scoring threat by pulling off a triple play.

The district was represented by teams from Wayne, Redford, Dearborn and Dearborn Heights as well as Westland and Garden City.

Westland clashed with neighboring rival, Wayne, in the first round and that clash produced a close 11-10 Westland victory as Mike Kehrer was credited with the win. Zuber again starred at the plate as he belted three hits, including a homer. Bruce Thompson chipped in with two circuit clouts and drove in three runs.

In the second round the champs took on Dearborn and won a clear-cut, 21-4, victory. Thompson staked winner, Kehrer to four RBIs, thanks to three hits. Dave Miller picked up four hits, including a two-run homer, while Jerry Reynolds, Bill Jethick and Mike Mushett each homered.

The Westlanders got their first look at the Garden City contingent in the third game and narrowly escaped with a 6-5 victory. Alves came on to relieve starter Kehrer in the fifth to get credit for the win. He also helped his cause with three hits, while Thompson and Kehrer each had two.

Zuber finished the tournament with a .500 batting average, and he also had five RBIs; Thompson's contribution included a .615 batting average and nine RBIs, while Alves had a .533 average at the plate and knocked in eight runs.

Joe Thomas routs Warriors to claim Class C crown

Scoring six times in the first inning, Joe Thomas went on to whip Westland's Warriors 18-10 to capture the 1978 Westland Parks and Recreation Class C softball championship.

Though the losers managed to collect 22 hits off of winning pitcher Joe Cooley, Cooley was staked to an early 13-5 lead and managed to protect the advantage the rest of the way.

Cooley had his problems, though, with Lonnie Ruthig who missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to homer. Ruthig drove in two runs, scored three times thanks to his triple, double and single.

Larry McConnell had four singles for the losers and also scored four times, while John Hughes picked up four hits, including a double.

Scott Brown and Terry Hoffman each smacked McConnell pitches for over-the-fence homers. Brown had four RBIs with two other hits to his credit. Teammate Bob Thaxton laced four hits and scored four times.

In other games, Thomas buried Crestwood Dodge 26-3 as Bob Thomaszewski hammered out two doubles and three singles for five RBIs and mate Jim Ferrari contributed five hits, including three runs batted in. Jim Theoumer helped winner Cooley with four hits and two RBIs.

Cooley gave up a homer and single to Ed Schenzer, while Mike Collainne had two hits and Jeff Pizzuit sacked three singles.

In a White Division game, the Westland Florist had to work overtime to pull out a 7-6 victory over Johnnie Union 76. The game was tied at 6-all after seven innings and the two rivals worked two more innings before the issue was decided in favor of the florists.

Bill Langley, the winning hurler, helped his cause with three hits, including a double, and scored three times. Mate Jerry Mijal drove in two runs on three singles, while Bill Fuller singled and doubled off of losing pitcher Don Yancik.

Rick Sharp had the lone (over-the-fence) homer and doubled for Johnnie's. Dave Teets chipped in with three singles and the losers also wasted Chuck Copland's single and double.

The Warriors struck for nine runs in the first inning but losing pitcher Paul Campbell couldn't silence the Dodge bats which erupted for six runs in the second and added four more runs in the fourth, three in the fifth and two more in the sixth to edge the Warriors 17-16.

Ed Schewizer and Ron Miller both hammered two over-the-fence homers for the winners and Randy Temple collected three hits.

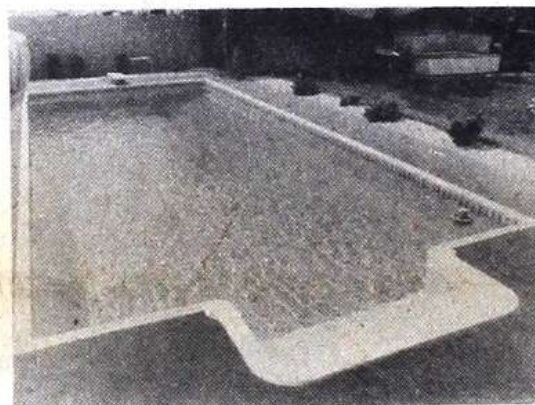

Winning pitcher McConnell had his problems with Don Douchelle, Lonnie Ruthig and Paul Lapinski who had four, three and three hits, respectively.

Class B champs succumb to Class C rivals

Annapolis and Burghuff to duel for city crown

Usually Class B teams play a better caliber of ball than their counterparts in Class C. But there are exceptions, of course.

And one of those exceptions occurred last week when Annapolis Auxiliary, the reigning Wayne Class C men's slo-pitch champ, took on Krajenke, the winner of the Class B championship to determine which would challenge Burghuff Bar for the Wayne's over-all championship. (The city championship was to be decided Monday night at Anderson Memorial Field).

Annapolis, by virtue of a 11-1 stomping over Krajenke, earned the right to play Burghuff Bar which won the Class A playoffs in Wayne. Bob Billing scattered seven Krajenke hits, including a triple to Bob Wood who drove in the winning run, to charge up the victory. Billing had ample hitting support from his teammates who staked him to a three-run lead in the second inning before erupting for seven decisive runs in the sixth.

Billing missed a rare shutout when Krajenke scored in the last inning. B.J. Baldwin drilled a homer and singled to drive in two runs while Curt Caldwell accounted for four RBIs thanks to a single and double. Dan Goodwin had a pair of singles and a double, while Irwin Nelson belted a couple of hits.

Krajenke qualified for the championship round by winning a 13-7 verdict from Jac's and Jakes. The losers looked good in the early innings when they tied the score at 1-1 in the top of the second and went ahead 6-3 in the top of the third.

But Krajenke countered with five runs in the third to take the lead for good. Pitcher Bill Coleman aided his cause with three hits and two RBIs, while John McAllister also checked in with three hits. Bob McCastry had a double and triple and Dick Wood belted a triple and single.

The Brewis brothers - Rick and Mike - led the loser's attack. Rick drove in three runs with a circuit clout and a single, and Mike's double produced one run.

Dick pitched two innings, gave up three runs and six hits and Mike took over and was charged for 10 runs for his five-inning stint on the mound. Krajenke claimed the Class B playoff title thanks to this victory.

In other playoff games, Jac's and Jakes rallied for six runs in the fifth to top and eliminate the Knights of Columbus 9-5 as Dick and Mike Brewis again shared pitching chores. They gave up a total of five hits, while loser Hank Blayer served up 12.

The Knights took the lead away from the leaders 4-3 after trailing 3-0 in the first inning. However, the 4-3 edge dissipated when Jack's erupted for six runs in the fifth to go ahead for good.

Tony Piscopink had a triple and homer and accounted for five runs batted in, while Mike, Rick and Bill Brewis each had two hits.

Krajenke beat the Knights 6-3 as Coleman twirled a superb three-hitter. The Knights broke a scoreless deadlock and took the lead 3-0, but Krajenke came back with one run in the fourth, grabbed the lead 4-3 in the fifth and added insurance runs in the sixth and the seventh.

Kevin Schaum and Dave Strausberg split six singles for the winners who received two hits from Coleman, Gerry Allen and Mike Gentile who tripled in a run.

Debozy, Brendan Haney and Bob Kommander accounted for all of the loser's hitting.

Canton has new golf leaders

Sam Natoli and John Mogelnicki have taken over the lead in the Canton Parks and Recreation's men's golf league.

Natoli and Mogelnicki earned four of five points from Dave Shirk and Ken Glover to give them a second half total of 24, one point better than Kraft and Valenti who are seated in second with 20 points - 2½ points up on at least three pairs.

Tony and Gordon Lapierre both shot par 36 rounds to tie Paul Oberhelman for the best rounds of the year, while Don Johnson came in with a one over par 37.

Here are last week's scores: Valenti and Johnson 5, Eminger and Sheets 0; Pietryka and Salde 2½, Hoffman and Yuchas 2½; Lawrence and Logsdon 4½, Horrey and Gabriels ½; Lally and Lyndrup 5, Seewald and Stuebben 0; McGee and Johnson

5, Koers and Koers 0; Watt and Lindley 5, Riggs and Rehberg 0; Oberhelman and Mattingly 4, Brock and Taylor 1; Natoli and Mogelnicki 4, Glover and Shirk 1; Lapierre and Argonis 3, Canning and Young 2; Ryan and White 5, Ponte and Ponte 0.

Here are the second round league standings after six weeks of competition: Natoli and Mogelnicki-24; Kraft and Valenti-23; McGee and Johnson - 20½; Oberhelman and Mattingly-20½; Eminger and Sheets-20½; Horrey and Gabriel-18½; Argonis and Lapierre-17½; Lawrence and Logsdon-17½; Canning and Young-17; Watt and Lindley-16; Ryan and White-14½; Ponte and Ponte-13½; Lyndrup and Lally-12; Glover and Shirk-11½; Rehberg and Riggs-11½; Koers and Koers-10½; Brock and Taylor-9½; Hoffman and Yuchas -9; Stuebben and Seewald-7½; Pietryka and Slade-5½.

All-Stars teach tutors an extra-inning lesson

The Midi-League girls' softball coaches found out just how good the team they picked as "All-Stars" was recently when the two met in their annual game. The All-Stars forced their tutors to play eight innings and won a thriller, 13-12. Members of the Wayne All-Star team included: Neil Moody (Wayne Tigers), Val Wolfe (Wayne Tigers), Sue Leonard (Mighty Mitts), Karen Ritchy (Superstars), Cindy James (Honky Hitters), Mary Allen (Funky Fielders), Eileen Knight (Funky Fielders). In the back row are Bill Galerno (Streakers), John Gorney (Streakers), Chuck Leonard (Mighty Mitts), Dale Corde (Wayne Tigers), Bob Sanders (Superstars), and Henry Wasik (Sluggers).

It's too close to call in Canton's golf league

It's still too close to call in the Canton Women's Golf League.

Though Ginnie Johnson, the leader a week ago, stepped down a notch and allowed Mary Kay Frey and Bev Green to step up to the top berth, no one is counting Ms. Johnson or Tiiu Himmelberger, Pauline Pryor or Silvia Dickinson out of the title race.

Frey and Green are co-leaders this week as each has managed to compile 26 points. Johnson, Himmelberger, Pryor and Dickinson are close behind the pacesetters, breathing down their necks with a 25-point total each.

Despite the logjam atop of the standings, some give Estelle Heidt an outside chance of catching the frontrunners.

Here are last week's standings: Mary Kay Frey-26, Bev Green-26, Ginnie Johnson-25, Tiiu Himmelberger-25, Pauline Pryor-25, Silvia Dickinson-25; Estelle Heidt-23, Denise Chapman-22, Betty Williams-21, Helen McGee-21, Lou Skotzke-19, Betty Lowing-19, Irene Karnish-18, Deidre Vesnaugh-17, Betty McDougall-17, Marge Trapp-11, Kay Nichols-11, Mary Jane Faussett-10, Flossie Tonda-9, Marge Mogelnicki-5, and Kathy Freece-5.

Meanwhile, Floyd Vickery and Bill Beggs, who shot 46 and 48 last week, have widened their lead to 12 points in the Canton Senior's Golf League. Emma Aleman and Gary Aleman, who have a total of 72 team points, are in second while Hilda Hayden and Skip Keller are tied for the runner-up berth. Two points back are the twosome of Judy Bond and Ralph Dietz who have amassed 70 points.
